WHAT IS

X-ODE

INHALER?

X-ODE is a product of electricity. It forms on asbestos while being electrically treated in a solution. This asbestos is put up in a glass vial. When the cork of the vial is removed and the air comes in contact with the asbestos, it emits from the inhaler a soothing gaseous substance, which will penetrate any part of the body. When inhaled through the nose or mouth it penetrates every nook and crevice of the mucous surfaces, kills the germ that causes the disease, and gives the tissues a healthy condition, thus effecting a permanent cure. It is unlike any other inhaler. X-ODE penetrates parts that it would be impossible for drugs or medicines to do.

Catarrh, Asthma, Hay Fever, Coughs, Headache, Bronchitis, La Grippe, etc., yield to its influence with marvellous rapidity. This inhaler lasts from one to three years. Trial size inhaler, 10 cts.; large size inhaler, $1.00. All druggists or by mail.

—Hon. J. F. C. Hyde is noted for his fondness for gardening and he is generally ahead of every one with his early vegetables. This year he planted his peas on March 10 and picked the first ones from them on Tuesday of this week. Last year he planted on March 20 and also picked the first on June 2nd. Evidently in spite of the cold spring, the season has now caught up with former ones. The peas were of the variety known as the "Earliest of all."

—There will be a meeting of the Sons and Daughters of Maine for the election of officers and committees on Tuesday evening next, at 7.45 o'clock at the residence of Hon. George D. Gilman, Baldwin street, all natives of Maine, who hold their old "down East" homes in tender memory are invited to be present and to join the society. This will be the last meeting of the season but in the early fall and winter it is proposed to hold some meetings, largely of a social character, which shall be in every way worthy of the good old state whose motto is "Dirigo."

—The Social and Periodical Circle of Grace church held its second meeting in the parish rooms, Monday evening. About forty were present by invitation. The music was rendered by Mr. F. L. Robbins, who sang some very beautiful songs.

Prof. Warren made an address on "Newton Fifty Years Ago," giving an account of the place as he remembered it when he was a boy and as it existed before it became a thickly populated district. It is interesting to hear that other organizations would no doubt be glad to hear it if he could be induced to repeat it.

—Last Monday evening occurred the recital of Mrs. H. E. H. Wright's pupils the last of the season at her residence, 12 Pearl street. It was an unusually pleasing program. Quite a number of pupils sang for the first time and their fine rendering was most delightful to their friends who were present. Mrs. Wright's pupils are always charming and her success as a vocal teacher is remarkable. She has a large class at the Boston Conservatory this year and will give a recital with her pupils there, June 15; this closes her season till Sept. 21, when she will resume lessons again.

—In responding to an alarm from box 231, Tuesday afternoon, Hose One met with an unfortunate accident at the head of Adams street. A large hose being moved from Washington street stood at such an angle as to only leave a distance of four feet between the telegraph pole on the corner and the hose, while the width of the sidewalk was little over six feet. The engine squeezed through all right but the hose was not so lucky and one horse turned to the right of the pole while the other turned to the left. They were both thrown to the ground but were apparently unhurt. The front of the hose wagon was badly damaged. Driver Ben Tripp was thrown from the seat but was unhurt. The hose was badly damaged. The engine was unhurt. The accident was caused by the narrowness of the sidewalk and the angle of the hose.

—The wedding of Miss Florence M. Reed of Boston, formerly of Santa Rosa, California, daughter of Capt. Miller S. Reed of Boothbay, Maine, and Mr. Frank A. Hills of Ashley, Ohio, occurred Monday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Charles Holmes on Channing street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Samuel J. May, pastor of the Episcopal church. The bride was given away by her cousin, Mrs. Holmes, and Prof. White of Harvard acted as best man. The couple received in the parlor. A reception will be tendered the day after the arrival at the home of the groom's father in Delaware, Ohio. They will reside in Ashley, Ohio.

—The Young Men's League of Immanuel Baptist church held its first ladies' night at the home of the leader, Mr. F. H. Tucker, of Church street. About fifty guests were present who were received by Mr. and Mrs. Tucker. After cordial greetings and a pleasant social time Mr. Tucker gave a brief outline of the object of the league, saying that those who composed it wished to reach the best manhood, and it seemed to them that the right way to attain it was through the study of the Bible and the practice of good citizenship. He then introduced Miss Lucia T. Ames of the 20th Century Club as the speaker of the evening. Miss Ames took as a subject, "How Can We Make Our City More Beautiful?" She spoke of American cities in comparison with those of European countries from a beauty point of view to the discredit of the former, even though the points of natural beauty and the cheapness of land made it so much easier to attain the end in this country. The need of good building laws was made impressive and a warning for the city drawn from the experience of Boston. Miss Ames is well known as a fascinating speaker and her practical subject held the close attention of all for an hour. Just at this time the program took an unexpected turn. Mr. W. W. Beverly of the league, in behalf of the same, presented Mr. Tucker with a set of books. Mr. Tucker was much taken by surprise, but responded in his happy manner. The guests were then conducted to the dining room where Mrs. Tucker was assisted in serving by Mrs. C. H. Lohrop, Miss Clara Shepherd and Miss Belle Barnes. The evening was most successfully closed.

The club will hold a business meeting next Saturday evening when the question of parading on the Fourth of July will come up for consideration.

—The steam roller has been operating on Tremont street, this week, but the delay in moving the house and stable that are over the foot of the street will delay the finishing of the road bed. The tracks are now laid to Oak square, but the paving is not completed, nor the poles and wires up, so that it will hardly be possible to run a car on the road for another week or two. The tracks over the bridge at Cottage Farm are also not yet finished. The time over the new route, from Newton to Boston, will be about 40 minutes, it is said.

—The wedding of Miss Florence Philbrook, daughter of Chief H. A. Philbrook of the Watertown fire department, and Mr. J. Edwin Warner, took place at the residence of the bride's father on Hunt street, Watertown, Wednesday evening. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William M. An informal reception followed the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Warner left for their new home in Denver, Colo.

—The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Stearns, corner of Harvard and Beacon streets, Brookline, was the scene of a brilliant wedding Wednesday night at 7.30 o'clock, when Miss Emily Maud Aechter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Aechter, was united in marriage to Graham Abbott Gilman, son of ex-Senator Gilman of Newton. —Arthur White, 16 years old, was in court Tuesday morning charged with breaking and entering the bicycle shop of Carl Seelig & Co., and larceny of a bicycle. The break was committed last Friday evening and the boy selected one of the best wheels he could find, a Columbia, also taking with him a tool bag and other necessities.

—Hugh Murphy, 21 years old, unmarried, and residing in Nonantum, met with a peculiar accident Wednesday evening and died about two hours later as a result of his injuries. Shortly before seven o'clock the engineer of a shifting engine employed in the construction of the temporary tracks, found a man laying at the side of the tracks above the Church street crossing toward Newtonville, and brought him to the Newton station. Dr. Webber was called and it was found that the man had broken several ribs besides having the back of his head badly crushed. He was removed to the Newton Hospital and died about nine o'clock. He was unable to give any account of the accident, and how it happened still remains a mystery. It is thought that he either jumped or fell from a passing train as he could not have been struck by an engine without the engineer of the train knowing it.

Death of Joseph Newman Bacon.

Mr. Joseph N. Bacon died at 9.30 o'clock, this morning, having been stricken with apoplexy on Wednesday. He has been in failing health for the past year, but has been able to attend to business up to within a short time.

He was one of the few living representatives of the early days of Newton, and was the son of Joseph Bacon, who was born in Sudbury, but settled in Newton at the same time with Mr. Jackson, and lived at first at West Newton, where Joseph N. was born on Jan. 25, 1813.

Mr. Bacon was educated in the Newton schools, at Marshall O. Rice's Academy and at Phillips' Academy, Andover. He entered his father's store, which stood on the site of the present Bacon's block at the age of 18. At 21, he bought out the store, which was one of the usual country stores of the day, and continued in charge until 1847, when he sold out to Geo. W. Bacon.

In 1850 he was chosen a director of the Newton Bank, and elected president in 1857. He was also one of the organizers of the Newton & Watertown Gas Company, and elected president in 1856, holding both offices until his death.

He married on April 17, 1845, Sarah A., the daughter of Elijah Woodward of Upper Falls, one of the early settlers, and both he and his wife were among the original members of Eliot church, coming from the First Church of Newton Centre. Mr. Bacon was at present owner of the farm on which he lives him, and also two children, Mrs. Stanton and William F. Bacon, and five grandchildren. Their golden wedding anniversary was celebrated one year ago.

Mr. Bacon was one of the original founders of the Newton Savings Bank, and has been a trustee since 1877. He was also the senior director of the Citizens' Mutual Insurance Co., formerly of Brighton, but now of Boston, and attended its last meeting.

He was always interested in Newton, and has been identified with its history for the past 50 years. He never held public office, but has invested his money largely in Newton real estate and business property, building the present Eliot block, and Bacon's block, besides owning a large number of houses in different parts of the city, and the large Bacon farm between Waban and Upper Falls.

He was related by birth and marriage to nearly all of the old Newton families, and for many years been one of the most prominent Newton citizens.

The funeral services will be held at his late residence, corner Washington and Bacon streets, on Monday at 2 p. m.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE TEACHERS' ANNUITY FUND.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:—

I desire through your columns, to call the attention of the people of Newton to two entertainments, soon to be given in the High School Gymnasium for the benefit of the Teachers' Annuity Fund. Both entertainments will be under the direction of Miss Jennie E. Ireson, the

THE CITY GOVERNMENT.

A WARM HEARING OVER THE WAVERLEY AVENUE RAILWAY PROJECT—MANY LADIES TAKE PART.

The board of aldermen met, Monday night, with all members but Alderman Degen present. Mayor Cobb presided. The time to 8.30 was taken up with unimportant hearings and regular business, and then the event of the evening came off, in the Waverley avenue hearing. The petitioners and remonstrants came in force, and each side made a great effort to get out the ladies, and the council room was filled with them, those in favor of the road seeming to be in the majority.

The meeting opened with a hearing on the telephone company's application for poles on Washington, Park and Tremont streets, and Mr. H. S. Allen said the West End would waive its right to poles, and use those of the telephone company, but it was very important that action be taken at once as the West End wanted to put up their wires, the tracks being about completed.

Hearings on poles on Adams street and Woodbine street were held. On the latter, Mr. Almy and Mr. Torrey protested, and a remonstrance from most of the residents was received. Mr. Allen said the poles were needed to reach Mr. Blood's house.

THE WEST END

petitioned for double tracks from Nonantum square down Centre street to the Watertown line, but no one protested. Mayor Cobb said he had seen the roadmaster and asked him if the company would pave the street, as the driveways on either side would be impossible to keep in order. He was noncommittal. Mr. Allen appeared for Vice-President Cummings, but was not authorized to speak on that question.

No one appeared at the hearing on the laying out of Gay street from Cabot to Clyde street.

The records were read and approved. Francis A. Morse of Morton street and John F. Bailey of Washington street were drawn as superior court jurors.

W. E. Young and Michael H. Turner were appointed permanent members of the fire department.

Papers from the common council were disposed of in conference, including C. A. Potter's petition for sewer on High street; E. E. Burdon, for repairs to drainage of Webster street; H. H. Reed, for laying out of Hillsboro terrace; Abner K. Pratt, for walks on Gibbs street; H. F. Ross, for concrete walks on Clyde street, and Fred E. Hall for concrete crossing on Auburn street.

Mrs. Pulsifer petitioned for acceptance of Birch Hill road, and for one street lamp on same.

The telephone company were granted a hearing on June 15, on petition for poles on Homer street, Commonwealth avenue and Valerian street.

Residents of Bellevue street petitioned for concrete sidewalks.

Mrs. Louise James asked to be released from paying back taxes on land on Ward street, for taxpaying out of Commonwealth avenue.

Residents of Allison street asked for one electric light.

Francis Minkoff asked for concrete walks on Furlow street.

Residents of Albany street asked for main drainage sewer; Elmer F. Buckman, asked for drainage on account of his horse taking the right at the street crossing on the boulevard and running away. A license for moving of a building from Seavers, through Main street, Ware road, Winthrop and Standard streets was granted.

WAVERLEY AVENUE HEARING.

At 8.30 the hearing on the petition for a street railway on Waverley avenue began and continued until midnight.

John Blaney opened for the petitioners and said that in response to the wishes of many people both in Newton Centre and in Newton, and all along the route, the railroad company had presented the petition for a single track road. They expected if the petition was granted to secure permission from the West End to run the cars down to Nonantum square and connect with the railway there. It was immaterial to the company whether the tracks were on the side or in the middle of the street, but they had made a plan showing the location of the tracks on Adams street, and in the middle from that point to Tremont street. Most of the land was not built upon so that a track on the side would not discommode any one. It would give a cross-town line and would accommodate a great number of Newton people who now were without any means of transportation to the city. The tracks could be laid and poles put up without interfering with any trees or infringing any estates. Centre street was out of the question for a railroad and this seemed the most feasible way to connect Newton and Newton Centre. The Newton & Boston road had been petitioned to lay this road but they had voted to refer the petition to the Commonwealth agents. The petitioners were signed but full and he presented them to the board. They were signed by eighty-five people, who would all be benefited by the line and would use it more or less. Most of the large land owners on the route had signed. The street was most of the way 50 feet wide, opposite the Harbach land it was 35 feet; at Tremont street it was 20 feet; at Vinton street, 25 feet; at 29 feet; at Dana street, 20 feet; and the driveway was from 30 to 32 feet wide. Mr. Powers interjected by saying that it was only 19 feet outside of the gutters. Mr. Blaney reported that the gutter was perfectly safe to drive in as he had tried it. It seemed to him that the people living on the upper part of the street had some right in the lower part of the avenue.

Mr. Chas. A. Haskell was next called on and said he was deeply interested in this matter, and wanted some way to reach his home without walking. He presented some interesting figures about the growth of the city. In 1894, there were 13 new houses put up in Ward 7, 23 in Ward 1, and the other wards had from 35 to 65. 275 houses put up in the city and Ward 7 only had 13. In 1895, there were 336 houses put up in the city, 31 more than the year preceding, and of these Ward 7 only had 6, the lowest number in the city. What does this mean? We have now in our neighborhood 7 large houses vacant, waiting for a purchaser, and as many more are occupied, but are advertised for sale. The reason is that they are too far from the railroad station. Ask any real estate agent what the people say to whom he shows them. The remonstrants can step right from their houses into street, railway cars, and they are satisfied and want nothing more. We have the most beautiful part of the city, high land, fine views, and every advantage but that of transportation, but that prevents development. The heads of the old families are passing away, but when their families try to dispose of their large estates, they find it impossible to do so. One large estate on the avenue has been cut up into lots, but no purchasers have appeared and another is also waiting to be developed. We are left out, we pay high taxes and we want some means of reaching the station. We don't ask for Centre street, nor Franklin street, but a railway can't go in the air, it must pass some one's door, and fewer people would be affected by this than by any other route. There are thousands of dollars' worth of property here waiting for some means of communication. This street is unoccupied for nearly the whole day. Where will the road go if not by this route (cries of Sargent street.) Mr. Haskell said he would rather have it on Sargent street than not at all. Waverley avenue is wide enough for two teams and an electric car. If in the future it is found necessary to widen, there will be no loss of valuable property along the line to help pay for it.

Mr. Joshua Baker said he was heartily in favor of the road. Mr. E. W. Gay believed it was the best route, the road would pay better on Centre street, but there was a great amount of unoccupied land to be developed. It must come sometime, and the sooner the better for the city. He was in a peculiar position, as he favored the road, while his wife, who owned a large amount of unimproved land, was opposed to it. (Laughter from the remonstrants), but the land could not be developed without a railway.

Mr. Heber Emery said he represented his mother, who was heartily in favor of the railway. Some 60 acres of land, worth $14,000, had been developed about 15 years ago, and made worth $215,000, but since then everything had stood still. Land could not be sold at any price, and an electric railway would cause a demand for it at once.

Mr. Chas. A. Hull said he was strongly in favor of the road. He was also requested by Mr. C. B. Lancaster to state that he favored the road as a public necessity.

Mr. N. P. Cutler said this locality was the most beautiful in the city, but real estate had depreciated and would not bring the assessors' figures. Even they were beginning to be discouraged and say we must wake up and do something. One of the remonstrants to night, I have heard of, is a man who has bought so far away as he can't sell or rent his property. The vacant houses cast a blight on the whole section. Another remonstrant has been heard to say that his property has depreciated $10,000 in the last 10 years. People say they can't get to us. The only reason the remonstrants have that is not ridiculous is when they say that the street is too narrow, but many of them never use the street. The day of the horse is passing and there are only about 100 horses in Ward 7, outside of those kept for business. Our opponents are mostly wealthy men, who keep several horses, and so don't need cheap transportation. You should sift out of the remonstrants those who do not live on the avenue, who rarely use it, and who signed only at urgent solicitation of friends. The remonstrants are a few at one end of the avenue, while the petitioners are many and all anxious to use the road. Some people with large estates object to the railroad as they are afraid it will increase the value of their property and so increase their taxes, but the road is a necessity to us. We don't want to see Homes for Feeble Minded or Keeley Cure establishments located in our midst, because some of our large houses can be bought for half their value. Let them be set in and they would ruin our property. We have about the only building land available in Ward 7, but it can't be sold for lack of means to get to the station. Letters were read from Messrs. L. Bowers, A. S. March, E. C. Fitch, Howard Phelps, John A. Pray, Fred W. Sargent, H. N. Kingsbury, J. P. Bird, Mrs. L. Andrews Browne and S. A. D. Sheppard, all heartily in favor of the location and urging that it be put through.

Brief remarks in favor of the road were made by Mr. Walter Holbrook, Mrs. John A. Kenrick, Mr. T. Edgar White, Miss Helen Hull, Miss Mabel Kenrick, Mrs. P. Cutler, Miss Cutler and Miss Hattie Henry. Mr. Geo. E. Hatch said he had lived on the hill for 15 years, and felt the necessity for an electric railway. Housekeepers could not get girls, because it was so far away, and a road is needed to develop property.

Mr. A. B. Turner said he favored the road as he was too poor to keep a horse. He also read a letter from Mr. Geo. B. Jones, heartily favoring the project, and hoping the location would be granted at once.

Mrs. W. H. Brackett and Mrs. Henry were represented by their sons, and both were strongly in favor of it.

Mr. John Linder represented his father, and said that the only way for friends to reach their place was to hire a hack, and as it was beyond the mile limit this was expensive.

Mr. John K. Taylor said other parts of the city were growing rapidly in population and value, but this section was going backward. The location and proposed road would improve at once, and the city's valuation would be largely increased.

Mr. Arthur Brackett said this part of the city was inaccessible and could not grow until some electric railway was built.

Mr. Albert Brackett said the stagnation is due to lack of transportation facilities, and give them an electric railway and it would grow as fast as other Boston suburbs.

Mr. Wiley S. Edmunds represented the Henry Brooks estate, which could not be let or sold because it was so far from the railroad. Mr. Howard Phelps' estate had been vacant four years for the same reason.

Mr. Minor represented the Farlow estate of some 40 acres, which the family wanted to dispose of. It could not be developed without an electric railway.

Mr. Geo. A. Ward as a real estate agent was heartily in favor of the road.

Mr. Cutler said he had made a list of the property on the street, from the assessors' books, which was in many cases 33 per cent. higher than it would sell for. On the avenue there is land taxed for $132,000. Of this amount the owners of $87,000 favor the road; those who are non-committal bring up the amount to over a million, while the owners of only $246,000 are opposed.

Mr. Haskell said the hour was getting late, and as what had been said gave the board a fair idea of the sentiment, his side would close.

THE REMONSTRANTS

had secured the services of Mr. John B. Goodrich and Mr. Thomas Weston.

Mr. Goodrich said the ladies present were not used to aldermanic hours and there were more to object than had favored, so that there would hardly be time to get his side all in. Nothing had been said about communication with Newton Centre, it was but a land speculation and for convenience. No street was so ill adapted to an electric railway as Waverley avenue, it was steep, crooked and narrow, and must be widened before a railway can be placed there. That would cost a huge sum, which the city could not afford at present. People who wanted to go to Newton Centre would go by way of Newtonville, which would be just as convenient, and this road is not in any sense a public enterprise, but only for individual accommodation. The street is much used by carriages, and bicyclists, and you can't damn good avenues of public travel.

The remonstrants represent nine tenths of the residents on the street and nine-tenths of the property, and the 180 names on the remonstrance are of those who have a close interest in the street.

Mr. Weston said very few people wanted to go to Newton Centre, and a coach that was started some years ago had to be given up for lack of patronage. The residents on the upper part desire the road but every property owner north of Franklin street is opposed. They have expensive houses, but if the road goes through, they will be offered for sale at any price they will fetch. The road is only 19-12 feet between gutters, which is altogether too narrow for an electric road. The road is so crooked that only a few feet ahead can be seen and would be extremely dangerous if electric cars were placed there. It was not fair safe to put a railway there.

Mr. Goodrich said the roadway at Tremont street was only 26 feet, at Vernon, 25 one side and 22 the other; opposite Mr. Bullens', 19-12 feet; at Arlington street 23 and 26 feet; Dana street 25 and 33 feet; Church street, 32 feet; opposite Mr. Gay's, 32 feet; at Franklin street 26 feet, opposite the Farlow estate 17-12 feet. The gutters had to be paved on account of the rush of water after every storm.

Mr. L. T. Burr said he should be very sorry to have an electric road there, as the street was not wide enough and the city had had a very expensive experience with Washington street. It would be a calamity to have electric cars in the street as it is today. He was surprised at what he had heard from the other side and did not know that he lived in such a miserable section, which was so rapidly going to ruin. He had supposed that the people had not what they paid for, but it seems that they had got caught.

Miss Nellie Snow said the residents did not want Alston transplanted to Waverley avenue, nor North village. If a railway was located there the street would have to be widened and this would destroy the beautiful trees that grow there. Newton for quiet, and did not want a cheap town.

Mr. S. L. Powers said if people were so anxious for trolley cars, the road ought to be located on Centre street, as that was the direct route to Newton Centre.

Mrs. Baker of Centre street, president of the Federation of Women's Clubs said the ladies were anxious to preserve Newton as a delightful suburb, and it would be a damage to the city if one of the very few thoroughfares was destroyed.

Alderman Harbach protested against having an electric road in front of his property, on the upper end of the avenue. He also objected to having it on his side of the street for the benefit of the other side. It was also too narrow a street as from Ward street to Mr. Hatch's line it is only from 21 to 28 feet. It would be a great damage to him, and he objected strongly.

Mr. Geo. H. Braman also objected as the street was too narrow. Mr. Daniel S. Emery said he came to Newton to get into a quiet suburb, and to get away from the electric cars. He had lived between Tremont street and Columbus avenue, and it was impossible to sleep there. The street could not be widened and a railway would ruin it. A vast amount of water came down there after every storm, which made the gutters impassable and in winter the snow would be piled up on each side so that no one could pass through the street. It was in a high bank in front of him. The road was dangerous now on account of being so narrow and crooked and there had been very serious accidents there to wheelmen and with an electric road it would be much worse.

Mr. Geo. S. Bullens said he had lived there 25 years and had had a beautiful street. They all took great pride in keeping up their places and an electric road would necessitate widening and that would destroy the trees that they had taken such pains to plant and care for. He objected very strongly. The street was so crooked that you could not see Tremont street from in front of his house and electric cars would kill every one in sight. He objected to the noise, he objected as a taxpayer. The debt of Newton was now $4,500,000, within $132,500 of the debt limit, and the city was in no condition to take on any expensive schemes. The road would depreciate property instead of benefiting it.

Mr. Chas. W. Lord objected strongly. Mr. T. R. Brooke objected on behalf of his mother, who would advertise her place for sale if the road was located there.

Mr. Daniel Dewey said the testimony of the other side was grossly exaggerated, and it was a very desirable section and all thought so except those who had property to sell. It was a bad scheme and not six people a day would want to go from Newton to Newton Centre. There was no need to inflict the noise and all the undesirable passengers such a road would bring upon the residents.

Mr. E. M. Springer objected and thought we had houses enough now in Ward Seven. We did not want thickly settled places.

Mr. S. L. Powers objected and called attention to the great expense an increase of population would entail on the city in the way of schools as the schools in Ward seven now did much more than accommodate the pupils.

Mr. D. E. Snow, Mr. Chas. W. Hall, and ex-Mayor Ellison presented their protests. Mayor Cobb read letters of protest from Warren P. Tyler, J. E. Merrill and Chester Guild.

Mr. Josiah White thought if the tracks were laid on Brighton street to the Newtonville station, the West End would be a road to Oak Square. This he thought much more desirable than going down Waverley avenue and ought to satisfy all parties. He owned 1200 feet front on Brighton street.

This closed the hearing at a few minutes before 12.

The regular business was then taken up and the session lasted till about 1.30.

An effort was made to pass the order granting a location for a street railway to the Commonwealth Avenue Company, for a spur on Centre street at Newton Centre between Commonwealth and Dana streets, connecting their line with that of the Newton & Boston Street Railway Company at Homer street, but it failed by a vote of 3 to 3, the mayor voting against. The vote was then reconsidered, and a motion to table was carried, and it is now expected that if certain releases of land are secured in order to make a little widening of Centre street possible, the order will pass at the next meeting. Orders were adopted providing for the widening of Cherry street, West Newton, from Webster to 15th street, and setting aside $87,000 for same; appropriating $78,500 for the department expenses for June; providing for sewers on Charlesbank road, Remick Terrace, Hobart road, Monmouth road, Vinton road, Montvale, Crescent and land of Newton cemetery corporation, and hearings were set for June 22.

The order releasing land taken for Commonwealth Avenue to Elizabeth Ann Pulsifer was rescinded.

An order passed discontinuing a portion of Hall street by estate of Newton National bank.

Orders passed taking land for sewer on Freeman street and Washington terrace. $1100 was appropriated for widening of Cherry street, and $750 for rounding off northeast corner of Sargent and Centre streets.

Orders passed for concrete sidewalks on Chestnut Terrace, Crescent avenue, Lake avenue, Pelham Park, Church and Berkeley streets, and for repairing walk on Hancock street; also for concrete crossing on Woodward street.

Sewers were ordered on Walnut street, Cabot street, Washington terrace and Freeman street. The Water board was authorized to expend $3,848 in laying pipes. Delacy Atkinson's petition for license to run a large farm from Newton Highlands to Working Boys Home was referred to committee on licenses.

Remember the Poor.

The Associated Charities would like to remind the charitably disposed that there is a time during the summer when the office of the society is almost the only place in the city at which persons, who though in trouble do not wish to seek aid from the Overseers of the Poor, can apply. Many of these people are precisely the widows of whom Mrs. Josephine Shaw Lowell speaks in the article from which last Sunday's Herald gives an extract. It is hoped that those who are planning to spend their summer away from the city will think to send in their contributions before they go, either to the collector authorized for their church, or to the Treasurer, Mr. Warren P. Tyler, 48 Sargent street, Newton.

WARD SEVEN'S PROBLEM.

Ward seven has always had the reputation of being the most conservative ward of the city, and the testimony at the railroad hearing Monday night proved that it still retains this characteristic. There were the usual objections that are always made to street railways, but in addition it was said that the ward had residents enough already, that to have a large influx of new people would not be pleasant and would destroy the quiet of that section, that it would be a great mistake to bring in new residents as that would necessitate more school houses and more expense, that people ought to be satisfied with living in such a beautiful section, and it was implied that it was little short of a crime for residents there to want to sell their land, or to sell or rent their houses.

It has always been a problem to outsiders what that ward would do when its large estates came into the market, as there is very seldom an opportunity to sell such large estates entire without an enormous sacrifice, and they are situated too far from any railroad facilities for the average suburbanite, in these days of rapid transit and electricity. Heretofore progress has been made by and left this section undisturbed, but it is evident that some of the large land owners are becoming restive and wish to dispose of their holdings. The agent for the Farlow estate, now unoccupied, which comprises some forty acres of the finest building land around Boston, testified that a railway was needed to develop the land, and the same opinion was expressed by those representing the Kenrick estate, the Wards, the Bracketts, and the Lancaster and Sargent estates, which comprise between them several hundred acres. The Lord estate was not represented, but that has been already cut up into building lots and streets laid out.

Ward Seven never looked with favor on such things and the present developments are evidently far from welcome, but that a change is to come can no longer be overlooked. The question is how can this property be made available for residences, and that is the problem before the owners. Most of it is a mile from the nearest railroad station, and that means in these days of rapid transit and electricity, that it will find no buyers without some means of communication with the railroad stations.

The city is also interested as the development of this land would mean a large addition to the tax list, and the city needs all these additions.

In Brookline, for instance, such remote tracts are made available by an electric line, and they are built up with handsome houses. Without a railway this section would grow as slowly as it has in the past, and that is too slow for those now living.

There seems to be no serious objection to the proposed line as far as Sargent street, and Mr. Merrill is the only objector down to Franklin street. There are three routes down from this point, one by way of Franklin street, which would be even more unpopular than down Waverley avenue, as more people would be affected; the second is down Waverley avenue, to which so many object, and a third would be down Brighton and Pembroke or Marlboro streets, but these would avoid the steep incline and winding road. Perhaps a compromise might be effected to the satisfaction of all parties.

INCREASE VALUES.

The assessors will find a very fertile and interesting subject to study by comparing their former figures of the value of Washington street property, and the prices which the city has paid for the same, and this study will enable them to decide as to the real value of the property which is left on that street.

A conservative estimate is that the city was called upon to pay at least five and in many cases ten times the assessed value of the land taken, and this testimony as to the value of the land remaining ought to add at least a million to the city's assessed valuation, on the land alone.

Then the new buildings along the street ought to bring in another large increase. Mr. Taylor is spending in Newton something like two hundred thousand in new brick blocks. Ex-Gov. Claflin, the Newton Associates, and others are spending nearly that amount in Newtonville, and all these buildings take the place of tumble-down structures, of little or no value, and the total, including the other new blocks near Washington street, will probably foot up a million more.

The assessors were very conservative in their estimates of Washington street property, but as there had been no sales along the street in years, and property could be sold then with difficulty at any price, they had no data to go upon.

Now, however, they have ample information, and they have no excuse for assessing land at 20 or 60 cents a foot, for which the owners want the city to pay from $2 to $5. It has been asserted that dwelling house property has been made to pay more than its fair share of taxes, while business property has been placed at a very low figure, the assessors not dreaming of its value, until the owners represented to the city government after its seizure, the amount of income derived from it.

There has been some complaint because the old buildings were allowed to be moved, instead of being torn down, but in most cases the buildings have been moved to land of small value, and the buildings have been improved so that they are of greater value than before, and will make quite an item in the assessors' figures.

The Washington street widening has been of great value to the city in many ways. Not the least of which will be the greatly improved appearance of the business sections, when all the new buildings now under way will be completed, and the widening will, it is said, very nearly pay for itself, from the discovery of the great value of the land along the street, together with the new buildings.

It is curious to note how old superstitions survive, in spite of the growth of popular education and modern enlightenment. People once devoutly believed in the theory that "the king can do no wrong," and it took a good many crimes and revolutions to convince the populace that kings were of the same character as other men. Nevertheless the superstition still exists, only in these days it has been transferred to the political party to which a man belongs. Parties are managed by politicians, and these men have some of them barely escaped the penitentiary for their acts, yet many people devoutly believe that their party, like the ancient kings, can do no wrong. It is a curious survival from the days when men did not pretend to have the right of independent judgment, and when they believed just what they were told to believe. It simply shows the innate tendency of man to depend on some higher authority for his opinions, and save himself the responsibility or the trouble of forming them for himself. The politicians, like the old kings, are shrewd enough to take advantage of this tendency and hence they proclaim with a great deal of fervor the doctrine of party infallibility.

For example, the Boston Journal, in speaking of the probable nomination of Mr. McKinley, attempts to offset any disappointment the friends of Mr. Reed, who hoped for a better man, may feel, by asserting that "the party never has and never can nominate a unit man for office." It is hardly safe for a political organ to presume too much on the ignorance of its readers, or to treat them as if they were like those famous New Hampshire Democrats that are still said to be voting for Andrew Jackson. A political party that "never has and never can," nominate a unit man is an organization that good men are still waiting for, and meanwhile they have generally to make a choice between evils, and vote for the least unit candidate.

SENATOR SPRAGUE, who wants to go to Congress from this district, voted against the West End Free Transfer bill, on Monday, as did Senator Niles of Watertown. Our Senators seem to be more interested in the West End than in the rights of the people.

CAMBRIDGE'S celebration of its 50th anniversary as a city attracted crowds of Newton people, this week, and the university city did itself proud by the enthusiastic way in which it celebrated the event.

Waverley Avenue Railway.

The remonstrants to the railway on Waverley avenue all live at one end, close to the cheap Tremont street cars, and not far from the station, and naturally enough they object to a railway in front of their houses. But what are the people to do who live and own land further up the street, a mile from the station, and who have to pay 50 cents for hack fare, if they are too tired to walk, and do not keep horses. Some of them have moved away and want to sell their houses, but can find no buyers on account of their remoteness. Others have inherited large tracts of land, the taxes of which have kept them poor for years, and they cannot sell, as the land is too far from the cars. Those who do not keep horses can not go out in the evening to social gatherings as it is too far to walk back and forth.

With an electric railway they might hope to see the region above Franklin street prosper, filled with fine houses, not perhaps as palatial as those of the remonstrants at the lower end of the avenue, but still costing from $5,000 to $15,000 or more. These lower end people are very much interested just now in the beauty of the avenue, and they go up the street above their houses perhaps once a year to enjoy its seclusion and beauty. But the petitioners have to climb up and down the hills every day.

There is an old fable about the dog in the manger, who had a soft nest and would not allow any one to disturb him, and these remonstrants just now have the manger.

Their objections are mostly sentimental, but the petitioners are influenced by cold, hard facts, and practical common sense, and have shown that all that is needed to turn their vacant acres into the sites for fine residences is an electric railway. Its elevation and natural beauties would still make of it the court of the town, and if the remonstrants do not like the railway in front of their houses they could sell out at a high price and come up and find all the quiet and seclusion and gentility they desire on the top of the hill. Why dwell down in the valley when they could enlarge their views by coming up on the hills? They are now so near to Tremont street, and its cheap cars and undesired crowd of passengers that the associations must make them uncomfortable. They should come up higher.

A CHANGE

For the Public to See X-Ode,

THE NEW DISCOVERY.

On Exhibition at Room 51, 179A Tremont St., Boston.

Marvellous as has been the advance of science, nothing in the past few years has superseded in interest the discovery of X-Ode. As is well known, this new substance forms on asbestos while being electrically treated in a solution. This asbestos is put in a glass vial in the form of an inhaler. When the cork of the vial is removed and the air comes in contact with the asbestos it emits from the inhaler a soothing gaseous substance which will penetrate any part of the body. When inhaled through the nose or mouth it penetrates every nook and crevice of the mucous surfaces, kills the germ that causes the disease, and gives the tissues a healthy condition. Catarrh, Hay Fever, Asthma, Headache, Coughs and similar diseases yield to its influence with marvellous rapidity. Everyone suffering from any throat or head trouble should procure at least a trial inhaler, which sells at 15 cents.

All the reliable druggists in Boston now have X-Ode on hand, and those that do not will procure it for you if you request them to do so.

The X-Ode Co., 19 Union Square, New York City, is the concern that is putting it on the market.

Lasell Notes.

Mrs. John Sherwood's lecture on Social Ethics was one of great value. Bright and sparkling, it abounded, too, in sound common sense and forcible logic, and was listened to with unflagging interest and appreciation. The necessity of dignity and courtesy, that which each citizen has its springs in unfeigned kindness of spirit, was insisted upon, and its social value shown. Simplicity of dress and naturalness of manner, the courtesy, the civility, the woman as eminently worthy of their adoption, and as being the firmest foundation of true attractiveness. After the lecture Mrs. Sherwood remained awhile in the chapel, to exchange greetings with the girls as they passed out, Miss Carpenter introducing them. This was the last of the Thursday lectures.

On Sunday a party attended the services of Grace church, Newton, and another the memorial service in the Congregational church at Auburndale.

Monday was the day appointed for the excursion to Wellesley College and Hume-Well's garden. The party went by barge and found in these famous places much to delight and to instruct. Among the pretty sights of the garden, the fine collection of orchids was especially noteworthy. Mr. Bragdon accompanied the party.

The annual banquet given by the S. D. Society to the senior class took place in the seminary dining-hall, on Monday night. T. D. Cook was the caterer on the occasion. J. W. Park of Waltham furnished music. The young women were charmingly bright and witty in their response to the various toasts proposed after the good things provided had dulled the edge of appetite.

The annual pupils' commencement concert of the musical department at Lasell was held in the gymnasium, Thursday evening. Nearly 400 relatives and friends of the young women were present, forming an appreciative audience. Besides selections by the Orphean club, the program included: Piano solos by Miss Cushing, Miss Cobb, Miss Hubbert, Miss Avery, Miss G. Wilson and Miss Pillsbury; violin solos by Miss C. Snell and Miss Cadmus; vocal numbers by Miss Cogswell, Miss Backer and Miss Hockman; organ numbers by Miss Chapin, and quartet numbers by Misses Cadmus, Baker, Burroughs and E. Wilson.

Health and happiness are relative conditions; at any rate, there can be little happiness without health. To give the body its full measure of strength and energy, the blood should be kept pure and vigorous, by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

—Mrs. Caroline E. Oliver, who died at the residence of her sister, Mrs. M. J. Kimball, 615 street, Wednesday morning, was probably the oldest person in this village, having been born at Roxbury, Mass., March 6th, 1804. She was the oldest daughter of Seth and Margaret (Newman) Moore and passed her childhood and early days at home, assisting in the care of the large family, which was quite the fashion in those days. While deprived of the privileges of an extended education in her youth, she attended the common schools but a short time, she possessed natural perceptive abilities, reading any and every book coming under her hand, and what was remarkable during her last years at an advanced age, entirely without the aid of glasses. She married John Oliver, a carpenter and builder of Boston, who removed to St. Charles, Ill., and died there some 20 years ago. He was a veteran of the war of 1812, and as his widow, she has been receiving a pension from the government and living with her sister since his decease. She was of mild and gentle disposition, loved by every one with whom she came in contact, ever on the alert to sympathize with and assist any one in trouble. She has always maintained membership with the Universalist society and taken great interest in the efforts of the young people, but during the past few years has been deprived of the pleasure of participating in the services, in consequence of an irritating cough coming spasmodically, she would feel that she was greatly disturbing her neighbors and so refrained from attendance. Naturally rugged, she has enjoyed average good health for one of her years until Saturday, Memorial morning, when preparing her breakfast she was smitten with a stroke of apoplexy, becoming unconscious and never recovered from it. She passed away Wednesday morning about four o'clock at the advanced age of 92 years, 2 months, 28 days.

The flowers carried by the bride were white roses, and her wedding gown was of satin, brocaded in a rose design, the same material being also used to cover the boxes in which the wedding cake was dispensed. Miss Anna Lisle, a younger sister of the groom, preceded the bridal pair, scattering roses in their path. The maid of honor was Miss Edith Peck of Providence, and the two bridesmaids Misses Edith and Ethel Hawkins of Springfield, Mass., twin sisters and cousins of the bride. The groom's brother, Mr. Frank D. Lisle, acted as best man, and the ushers included Mr. Fred Wells Pitkin of Boston, Mr. S. A. Hopkins, Mr. S. W. G. Jones and Mr. F. D. E. Jones of Providence. —Last Sunday at the Congregational church was held one of the best memorial services that has been held in the city for some years. The morning exercises opened at the usual hour and after singing by the choir, reading from psalter, the pastor, Rev. C. M. Southgate, taking for his text, Deut. IV. 9, preached a most eloquent sermon. After speaking of the present memorial day, the pastor called back the memories of his congregation and members of Charles Ward Post, No. 62, G. A. R., particularly to the days of '61-'65, and of the brave men who have passed away, and of the handful who were left. The pastor also called attention to the great dangers of receiving the hordes of immigrants from countries across the sea, the dangers and bad example of not having the stars and stripes flying over every school house, especially in Newton, etc. At the close of the service Abraham Cole's hymn to the tune of America was sung by the congregation and post. On the filing out of the latter each member was warmly shaken by the hand by the pastor. In the evening a citizens meeting was held where patriotic speeches and addresses were made by members of the grand army, and pastors of the Episcopal, Methodist and Congregational churches. Special mention should be made of the singing of the choir in charge of Mr. Waldo W. Cole, which was very pleasing at both services, also the decorations of the pulpit and church with bunting, etc., creations of Comrades Shepherd and Ober and the flower committee.

The city has settled with the other estates between Elmwood street and the railroad and the buildings will soon be moved back. No settlement has been made yet for the old house on Court street of Waverley avenue and Tremont street, and possibly it will be moved to the other part of the lot.

AGAINST POOR CUBA.

MERITS OF DEBATE BETWEEN BROOKLINE AND NEWTON SO DECIDED.

The representatives of the Newton high school lyceum and the Brookline high school debating society met in their annual joint debate in the high school gymnasium at Newtonville last Friday evening.

The question of Cuban belligerency received new interest in the minds of the supporters of the two schools as the subject of their debate, and the hall was crowded by nearly 500 friends and fellow students of the debaters.

For the first time in the series of joint debates between the two schools judges were appointed, and a decision on the merits of the debate was rendered.

Mayor Cobb presided, and the judges were Hon. Albert L. Harwood of Newton Centre, Prof. George R. Hovey of Richmond, Va., and Charles H. Drew of Brookline.

At 8 P. M. Gardner Walworth of the Newton high school lyceum introduced Mayor Cobb, who in turn introduced Henderson Kellogg of Brookline, the first speaker in the affirmative.

Mr. Kellogg reviewed the Cuban struggle for liberty, and of Spain's failures to keep its promise of reform. Spain, he said, had proved itself unfit to govern Cuba. Her government was corrupt and her policy cruel. Brave men in Cuba were fighting as brave men fought in 1776. There were only two outcomes to the Cuban struggle, death or independence.

Arthur W. Hollis of Newton followed in the negative. He said it was a question of fact, not of sentiment. For the United States to recognize belligerency it must first exist. The Cubans could fight, but had no established government, no seaport and no navy. They were in no sense entitled to ask or receive the rights of belligerency.

J. Gilbert Pierce of Brookline suggested that a recognition of belligerency was not a declaration of war. In any event war with Spain was not to be dreaded, when the cause of humanity was at stake.

Ernest W. Clarke spoke next in the negative. He believed that a recognition of belligerency would cause the United States to fall from its high place among the nations. A government could not spring into being in a day, or be produced by fighting alone. Cuba knew nothing of government, and was not fit to be a nation.

Ernest H. Wilkins of Newton and Chas. W. Kellogg of Brookline, the two principal speakers, closed for their respective sides in speeches which won rounds of applause from their admirers.

Mr. Kellogg asked if there was not a war in Cuba, why Spain had been obliged to send 150,000 troops to the island. The Cubans were fighting bravely for right and liberty, and deserved recognition at the hands of the United States. A war with Spain was not to be dreaded by the United States. The Cubans already had all the requirements for belligerency, and were sure to be victorious.

Mr. Wilkins thought the mystery which surrounded the status of affairs in Cuba justified the directors of belligerency. All the essential elements were lacking. War with Spain was not to be dreaded, but it might not be right.

After 15 minutes of consultation the judges decided that, although the Brookline men presented a better appearance on the platform, and perhaps had their subject more in hand, the weight of argument was on the Newton side, and a brief congratulatory speech Mayor Cobb declared the Newton debaters the winners.

The announcement was received with a vociferous burst of cheering, and the three champions were carried around the hall on their schoolmates' shoulders, while the hall rang with the school yell.

Comments on Mr. Allen's Letter.

To the Editor of the Graphic:

I read Mr. Allen's communication to you last week concerning our Public Schools, with much interest. His comparison of the superintendent of streets with the superintendent of schools is hardly competent or parallel, however.

The former has a business to learn which is not familiar to most people. The latter is simply continuing a business which has been drilled into every citizen. The former has a class of employees to deal with, composed largely of uneducated men, controlled by brute force. The latter has under his supervision a body of men and women who are his peers, many of whom are competent to occupy his position.

I had supposed the superintendent of schools to be the servant of the school committee, appointed by them to carry out their plans, execute such orders as they might make and to maintain a general supervision of the schools, under their direction, responsible for the fulfillment of the many details attendant thereto. More like the railway superintendent who acts under the authority of the board of directors, school matters the committee is the board of directors.

This supposition is confirmed by a remark of the superintendent in an address recently delivered in Newtonville that "the schools are what the people make them." This is the correct theory and I am glad the superintendent believes in it. But is it the fact? Does this constant friction and irritation between the school board and the people indicate it? Does the Adams school imbroglio look like it? It ought to be so but really the people have very little to do with the making of our schools under the present regime.

The people meddle very little with school affairs because they expect the school board to represent them in carrying out such measures and reforms as shall be satisfactory to them. Hence, when school matters take the form of indignation meetings, protests and public hearings which are largely attended and unanimous in sentiment, and demand certain changes in methods and policies, it does not look very much as though "the schools are what the people make them."

The trouble is the people cannot be heard in school management. We are too often ignored. The committee looks the other way. Doubtless they are acting as seems to them best, in perfect sincerity, with the light they have. But, unfortunately for us, their light comes from the wrong direction. The people would gladly give some light but the committee shuts it off and declines to be enlightened from that source.

It is unfortunate that there is such a distance between the school board and the people. Is it because the board is such an august body? Or is it because the school citizen is supposed to know nothing about school management? Possibly neither side can claim a monopoly. Or is it the "dominant harmony" on the other end which subtly draws the committee away from the people?

Directors are changed by vote of the stockholders, but it is better that in school affairs the directors should represent the wishes of the stockholders. We would very much rather vote them in than vote them out. As a stockholder I prefer few changes and permanent harmony.

THE BLUES.

A Graphic Description of the Dreadful Feeling.

What Is Meant by This Form of Acute Misery—Where Doctors Make Mistakes.

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture.

It is usually this way:—She has been feeling "out of sorts" for some time; head has ached, and back also; has slept poorly; been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart has beat very fast; then that bearing-down feeling. Her doctor says, "cheer up, you have dyspepsia; you'll be all right soon."

But she doesn't get "all right." She grows worse day by day, till at last she realizes that a distressing female complaint is established.

Her doctor has made a mistake. She has lost faith in him; hope vanishes; then comes the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES. Her doctor, if he knew, should have told her and cured her, but he did not, and she was allowed to suffer. By chance she came across one of Mrs. Pinkham's books, and in it she found her very symptoms described and an explanation of what they meant. Then she wrote to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for advice, feeling that she was telling her troubles to a woman. Speedy relief followed, and vigorous health returned.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound instantly asserts its curative powers in all those peculiar ailments of women. It has been the standby of intelligent American women for twenty years, and the story recited above is the true experience of hundreds of women, whose letters of gratitude are to be found on file in Mrs. Pinkham's library.

If it required an annual outlay of $100.00 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount. Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents, that is, the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre.

Literary Notes.

Miss Kate Sanborn's book, My Literary Zoo, is described as an amusing and picturesque account of animals in literature. Messrs. D. Appleton & Co. will be the publishers.

The story of the Indian, by George Bird Grinnell, the first volume in the Story of the West series, issued by D. Appleton & Co., has been republished in England, and is attracting much favorable attention from the English reviewers.

Maggie is the title of Mr. Stephen Crane's next book, which is to be published immediately by D. Appleton & Co. It is said that Mr. Howells regards this as Mr. Crane's strongest work, and superior even to The Red Badge of Courage. In the autumn the same publishers will issue The Little Regiment, by Mr. Crane, which will be complementary, as it were, to The Red Badge of Courage. Both Maggie and The Little Regiment will be uniform with The Red Badge.

A novel dealing with New York social life and the hunting life on Long Island is to be published shortly by D. Appleton & Co. The title is Green Gates, and the author is Mrs. K. M. Meredith.

In the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, for they always cleanse the liver, purify the blood, and invigorate the system. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; W. P. Thorne, Auburndale.

CUSTOMER—I want a remedy for catarrh. DRUG CLERK—All right, sir. Here's a blood tonic that is advertised to build up the constitution.

CUSTOMER—Young man, do you think I'm going to dose myself with a blood tonic for months, just on the chance of its doing me some good? Not much! I want immediate relief; besides, catarrh is a local affection, and no tonic or blood purifier ever made, can cure it. Here's 50 cents. Let me have Ely's Cream Balm. It's the only thing I know of to cure an attack of catarrh.

Three very amusing farces were produced under the capable management of Mr. Burt Hudson, which kept the audience in a state of continual mirth. The performance will be repeated in Union hall, Waltham, next Monday evening.

Now is the time to provide yourself and family with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a safeguard against an attack of bowel complaint during the summer months. It costs but 25 cents and is almost sure to be needed before the summer is over. This remedy never fails, even in the most severe cases, and is in fact the only preparation that can always be depended upon. When reduced with water it is pleasant to take. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre.

In combination, proportion and process Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself, and unequalled in true merit. No other medicine ever possessed so much curative power, or reached such enormous sales, or made such wonderful cures, as Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is undoubtedly the best medicine ever made to purify, vitalize and enrich the blood.

That is the secret of its success. Read this statement:
"When my son was 7 years of age, he had rheumatic fever and acute rheumatism, which settled in his left hip. He was so sick that no one thought there was any help for him. Five sores broke out on his thigh, which the doctor said were sores. We had three different doctors. Pieces of bone came out of the sores. The last doctor said the leg would have to be cut open and the bone scraped, before he could get well. Howard became so low that he would eat nothing, and one doctor said there was no chance for him.

"One day, a newspaper recommending Hood's Sarsaparilla was left at our door. We decided to try this medicine. Howard commenced taking it the last of February, after having been sick for a year and a half. He hadn't taken it a week before I saw that his appetite began to improve, and then he gained rapidly. I gave him five bottles, when the sores were all healed and they never broke out again. The crutches he had used for four years were laid aside, as he had no further use for them. I give all the credit to Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. A. L. Moody, Fay Street, Lynn, Mass.

In Olden Times

People used to dig such roots as dandelion, sarsaparilla, yellow dock, etc., etc., every spring and brew home made root beer from them. Nowadays and for many years past, Williams' Root Beer Extract has taken the place of the root digging and brewing process, as it saves a great deal of time and trouble, and contains in concentrated form all the valuable roots and herbs that were used by the old folks years ago.

The sale of Williams' Root Beer Extract has increased year by year, until it has become a leading article in thousands of stores.

The fact that root beer was in demand has led to the manufacture and sale of many imitations of root beer that contain no roots. In buying root beer extract you should buy the kind that will do the system good, by improving the appetite and aiding digestion. Williams' Root Beer Extract can be relied upon, as it is the production of the well known Drug House, the Williams & Carleton Co. of Hartford, Conn.

—The Wellesley officers, three in number, went on duty Monday night, resplendent in new uniforms and encouraged with an increase in salary.

—The M. E. church society held a lawn party on the church grounds, Saturday afternoon and evening. They will duplicate the affair June 17th on a larger scale.

—A number from here attended the dedication ceremonies of the Working Boys' Industrial Home at Newton Highlands, last Sunday afternoon, Fitzgerald's spacious barge Belle of Newton conveying many.

—Patrick O'Neil and Patrick Leonard were among those purchasing lots on the new territory recently opened for building purposes, at the junction of Beacon and Washington streets, at auction last Saturday.

—Mr. Haskins of Wellesley Hills was thrown from his road cart while exercising a young horse, last Saturday, by one of the wheels breaking. He received some slight bruises about the head, coming out of the accident quite fortunate.

—The large audience at the M. E. church last Sunday evening were greatly delighted by the Whittneys of Newton who gave their temperance service. The addresses of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Whitney were highly appreciated; and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Whitney completely captivated the audience with their beautiful songs.

—Michael Dunleavy has been appointed patrolman, covering this end of Wellesley in place of Officer Higlow resigned. The new board of selectmen when elected generally are pledged to remove those in office to secure election, but we do not think they get better service in many cases.

—A strong base ball team has been organized here for the season and in their two contests with strong teams have had a complete walk over in both games. If the team can be freed from the objectionable feature of wrangling we think the nine would have a fair attendance and financial support.

—The recent change in time on the branch has been the cause of many losing trains during the last week as the new time affects more trains than any former change heretofore. The taking off of two trains is not done without many protests from regular patrons, as well as many others who think the road is trying to be very accommodating in giving their rivals, the electric, more business.

Electric Cars on Waverley Avenue.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:
Shall we have electric cars on Waverley avenue? Shall we chop down and sweep away the beautiful trees that over arch and intertwine like a green canopy overhead, the care and the growth of years, and replace with gaunt, bare, black poles.

Shall a few land boomers at the upper end be allowed to float their scheme and inveigle the city into being a silent partner? Shall our fast emptying city treasury be still further depleted to help on private speculation and help sell potato patches? Shall we cheapen Newton?

Shall we turn one (and the most beautiful) of our too few driving streets into a tram-way for electric and relegate our owners of horses to short and narrow side streets?

Shall we thrust away the beauties that have made Newton the garden city and introduce the evil that has cheapened Malden, spoiled Everett, and made the outlying towns on the north side of Boston what they are?

Shall we travel a circuitous route to Newton Centre that a few may be accommodated and the great travelling public ignored?

Shall the money of the taxpayer be diverted from its right and lawful use to help on private enterprise?

Do we live in the suburbs, put up with the inconveniences of out of town life, to bring the hum, confusion and danger of cars and car tracks into our midst?

Shall we start the ball that shall rob Newton of its quiet, of its gentility, of its verdant beauty?

Shall we introduce street cars through our most beautiful residential portion, knowing that they are always forerunners of cheap places?

Shall we fill Newton with syndicate blocks and tenements?

Shall we have hivers not residents? People who care nothing for the welfare of our beautiful city, fill up our schools with children and in return pay nothing but the laborer's poll tax, or shall we have families of taste, refinement and money. People who have the real, true and lasting welfare of Newton at heart?

Shall we ignore the rights of bicyclists, pedestrians and abutments, and sit deaf to the cry on all sides that the avenue, that leads to the two reservoirs he spared the wrecking hand of the speculator.

Is there any need of running a car line through the avenue?

No.
Is it the best, shortest, easiest or most desirable line to Newton Centre?

No.
Is the movement started by land boomers who have potato patches to sell and have first and only self aggrandizement in view?

Yes.
Don't be caught by the cunning juggling of words.
Don't be misled, don't stay misinformed. Don't let the electric cars chatter up and down an avenue that is not fitted for it by width, situation or any other else.
Rally against it, built up such a wall of defense about it that the feeble cry for it shall be still before it is heard.
Save to Newton its fair name, its quiet, its seclusion.
Shut out the noise and turmoil of cheap places.
Save in its beauty and quiet Waverley avenue.

NEWTON CLUB.

Nearly 500 of the society people of the Newtons helped to make the first of the June series of out-door promenade concerts under the auspices of the Newton Club, held Wednesday evening, a decided success.

The broad verandas and tennis courts adjoining were roofed over and covered with canvas, forming a delightful promenade.

At intervals tele-a-tele tables, for light refreshments, were set in the large tent an orchestra was stationed. The exterior of the clubhouse was illuminated with hundreds of colored electric globes.

In the large assembly hall a second orchestra played for dancing.

FOR LADS.

Sizes, 5 to 16 Years.

THIS SUIT is substantially trimmed with tough and durable linings, threads, etc., and the seams are double stitched and stayed with tape, rendering them impossible to rip.

The trousers are fitted with our patent "Cavalry" or double knee, and extra pieces and buttons accompany each suit.

Our "Knockabout" suit is gotten up to resist hard and unremitting usage, and parents will find it a most satisfactory investment.

THE NAME "KNOCKABOUT" is original with us, being our own idea and copyright, and the cloth used in the manufacture of the suits, which is made especially for us, is subjected to the most vigorous examination and test for purity of fibre, strength of weave, and careful blending of its non-soling and non-fading colors, before we allow a yard of it to be cut.

On the line of the Boston & Albany improvement, the remaining Clavin building, on Washington street, Newtonville, is being removed. The floor in the building has been moved from the old site at Newton, and as neither the railroad people nor the city could reach any agreement with Charles A. Cole in regard to his property, near the Washington street crossing at West Newton, and as the work of depressing the tracks had come to a standstill on account of the obstruction caused by his presence, the highway committee of the city council ordered the Cole building removed, and Monday the work was begun. The brick boiler house and blacksmith shop are being torn down, also one of the Cole houses and a barn, while another of the buildings is being turned around, and still another moved to the Washington street line, pending a settlement. The case will probably reach the courts. With this obstruction out of the way the railroad people may now complete the work of laying the ballast for the temporary tracks and finish the partially advanced work of track laying. The blasting of the St. James street ledge is done, the work of laying the extensive trestle work is about complete, and the removal of two of the tracks

Howard Stone also received the degree of bachelor of science.

—A misallusion on the part of laborers employed blasting the ledge at the St. James street crossing, resulted in delaying all the early trains for over a half hour, yesterday morning. An extra heavy charge was placed in the five holes drilled for the purpose, causing a powerful, though not very loud explosion, which scattered the large stone across the four tracks. All the trains were flagged, but the work of removing the obstruction consumed but a comparatively short time and within thirty minutes all trains were running on scheduled time.

—Tuesday evening a quiet home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Betts of Oakland street, the contracting parties being their daughter, Miss Rebecca Evelyn Betts, and Mr. Fred Fayette Sanders of Boston. The ceremony was performed by Prof. George K. Miss Katherine Ketchum was bridesmaid and Mr. Westcott acted as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Sanders left for a wedding trip through Vermont and upon their return will be at home at their residence on 96 East Newton street, Boston.

—At St. Peter's Episcopal church, Cambridge, at 8 o'clock, Wednesday evening, Miss Lillian E. Eyles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Eyles and Cyrus M. Brown of this city were married by the rector, Rev. Charles H. Perry. The bride was attired in ivory-white satin, trimmed with lace and pearls, a tulle veil being caught with lilies of the valley. The bridesmaids were Miss Helen G. Eyles, sister of the bride, and Miss Marion Huntington of Boston. They wore pink and white embroidered mousseline de soie and carried pink roses. Charles A. Eyles, brother of the bride, was best man. The ushers were: George E. Stone of Lexington, Fred O. Folliott of Dorchester, George A. Eyles of Cambridge and Wendell F. Brown of Brookline. The ceremony was followed by a reception at the residence of the bride's parents, 23 Antrim street.

—The attention of our readers is called to the fact that the Hyde estate on Centre street and Hyde avenue, in the most beautiful section of Newton proper, has been laid out in a most attractive manner, and is now offered to the public. The lots vary in size from 100 to 400 feet, with long frontages, supplied with gas, water and sewer. The neighborhood is the finest in all the Newtons, and as the lots are to be sold under suitable restrictions, any person is assured that there will be no falling off in this respect. The nearness of this estate to station, electric cars, schools, library, etc., together with its elevated situation, magnificent views, and unsurpassed beauty of the site, added to the fact that the property will be sold at a very reasonable price, combine to make the opportunity one of a lifetime. We understand that the property is being handled by Hyde's Real Estate Agency, of 31 Milk street, Boston.

—On the line of the Boston & Albany improvement, the remaining Clavin building, on Washington street, Newtonville, is being removed. The floor in the building has been moved from the old site at Newton, and as neither the railroad people nor the city could reach any agreement with Charles A. Cole in regard to his property, near the Washington street crossing at West Newton, and as the work of depressing the tracks had come to a standstill on account of the obstruction caused by his presence, the highway committee of the city council ordered the Cole building removed, and Monday the work was begun. The brick boiler house and blacksmith shop are being torn down, also one of the Cole houses and a barn, while another of the buildings is being turned around, and still another moved to the Washington street line, pending a settlement. The case will probably reach the courts. With this obstruction out of the way the railroad people may now complete the work of laying the ballast for the temporary tracks and finish the partially advanced work of track laying. The blasting of the St. James street ledge is done, the work of laying the extensive trestle work is about complete, and the removal of two of the tracks of the present service will commence as soon as everything is in readiness.

Cyclists who are not careful where they leave their wheels when they enter a house or store, should take warning of the unpleasant experience of one young man standing against the sidewalk and walking along entered a house about a block away. Things there were so pleasant that he remained considerably longer than he expected, never mindful of the bicycle. A policeman found it and knowing it had been there some time asked the occupants of the house if they knew who owned the wheel. They disclaimed all knowledge of it so the officer took it to the police station. Shortly after the owner in a state of breathless excitement, came down to report his loss, but happily surprised to find the "bike" in one of the safe deposit vaults.

—The most important day of the whole year for the children of the Eliot church Sunday school, the day of their annual June festival, passed off yesterday to the satisfaction of every child of the 600 connected therewith. In the afternoon a musical entertainment for the children was provided, and in the evening feasts of magic and sleight-of-hand were performed. At 6:30 p. m. dinner was served. The affair was in charge of George A. Agry, assisted by Fred L. Trowbridge. The tables were in charge of Horton S. Allen, W. T. Coppins, George G. Webster, Albert A. Hawley, Wallace A. Wales, Edgar Billings, E. O. Childs, Jr., and E. L. Robinson, who were assisted by a staff of young women ushers.

Eczema is a frightful affliction, but like all other skin diseases it can be permanently cured by applications of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It never fails to cure Piles. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; W. P. Thorn, Auburndale.

YOUNG MINISTERS.

TWENTY-TWO GRADUATED FROM NEWTON THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY—TRUSTEES' ANNUAL DINNER—A RECEPTION GIVEN BY STUDENTS AT HILL'S LIBRARY BUILDING.

It was commencement day yesterday at the Newton Theological Institution, Newton Centre, and a class of 22 young men was given their diplomas. There was a large attendance from Boston and other cities, and the First Baptist church, Newton Centre, where the graduating exercises were held, was filled with nearly 800 people. The church was beautifully decorated with palms and potted plants. There was a large bank of rhododendrons on the platform, and many cut flowers added beauty and fragrance.

Rev. Alvah Hovey, D. D., president of the institution, conducted the exercises, and the members of the faculty occupied the platform, the graduates being seated in the pews in the centre of the church, near the platform.

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS.

THE NONANTUM WORSTED CO. VOTES TO CLOSE ITS FACTORY.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Nonantum Worsted Company, held Wednesday, it was voted: "That in view of the depression prevailing in the woolen business and the uncertain outlook in this country, it is undesirable to continue the business of this company, and that the corporation accordingly liquidate its affairs and go out of business."

Mr. George Hall, treasurer of the Nonantum Worsted Company, says: "The company is solvent, but it has not made money the past year, and we do not want to be tied to death. When the condition of affairs in this country is more favorable to business interests, especially as regards the tariff, we shall probably resume business again."

The mills of the Nonantum Worsted Company are located in the Nonantum district in Newton. The offices are at 206 Federal street, Boston.

One of the officials of the firm stated to a Herald reporter that if business shows an upward turn before the expiration of two months, while the affairs of the concern are being wound up, the firm may resume. For some time the mills have been running on short time, and some of the employees have been out, because of the state of the market. The closing that has now been ordered will affect about 600 hands employed by the firm, the majority of whom are women and children.

The company has been established 15 years and is credited with having made a great amount of money until within a few years, when competition has been very sharp. They have one of the most extensive plants in the country.

The Idle Wheels.

A peculiarity about the Idle Wheels, which are on exhibition at the warehouses of the Fenway Cycle Co., is that they are almost universally selected by riders of experience, people who know and appreciate the fine points of construction and finish which are found only in this absolutely high grade bicycle.

The Fenway Company also carry the Wolf-American, the "Swell Dayton," the Howard Watch Co's, the Olympic, the New Mail and a full line of serviceable second grade wheels at very low prices.

They also do a large business in renting, repairing, storing and instructing, and a visit to their rooms will show at once that the company's success is due, not only to their carrying a fine line of goods, but, as well, to the careful and courteous attention which all visitors receive.

A. L. Wooster, a prominent citizen of Osseo, Mich., after suffering excruciatingly from piles for twenty years, was cured in a short time by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. An absolute cure for all skin diseases. More of this preparation is used than all others combined. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; W. P. Thorn, Auburndale.

Native Strawberries.

J. Barton of Weston began delivering native strawberries through the city this week. They are large and of fine quality and are picked fresh from the vine, the day of delivery, so that they come to the table in fine condition. Many Newton people have given him orders for the season, and a postal to J. Barton, Weston, will receive a prompt response.

NEWTON REPUBLICAN CLUB.

FORMED WITH MANY SPEECHES FOR REED AND SOUND MONEY, BUT WILL SUPPORT MCKINLEY.

Over two hundred leading Republicans from the various wards assembled in Denison hall, Newtonville, Saturday evening, to perfect plans for the organization of a city Republican club.

The meeting was a most enthusiastic one and savored somewhat of an old-fashioned Republican rally. Most of the speakers called upon by Chairman Sands to express their opinions regarding the purpose and work of the club, took advantage of the opportunity and paid a high tribute to Thomas B. Reed and extolled the principles of the grand old party. The sentiments expressed seemed to voice those of the entire assembly and the speeches were frequently interrupted by cheers and applause.

Shortly after eight o'clock Chairman Sands called the meeting to order. On motion of Mr. Powers Mr. Sands was appointed temporary chairman and Mr. C. E. Hatfield secretary pro tem.

Mr. Sands said that the work of organizing a Republican club was a very important event in the city of Newton, and if carried out properly would result in a great benefit to the Republicans of the city.

Mr. Langford moved that a committee be appointed by the chair to nominate a list of officers and draft a constitution.

The motion was carried and the following chosen: J. T. Langford, J. M. Stickey, J. P. Bullard, H. O. Ryder, S. W. Jones, Robert H. Gardner and Daniel S. Emery. These gentlemen retired to an ante-room.

At the request of some one on the floor Chairman Sands called upon Mayor Cobb to read the preamble which had been prepared by a member of the ward and city committee. It contained a very earnest appeal to Republican voters for a greater interest in the work and warranted a hearty support of whatever candidate that might be nominated.

Mr. Sands in speaking of the condition of the Ward Two branch of the ward and city committee, said that it had rendered grand services and its members had ably aided in the work. It had something in the treasury and one hundred members.

Mr. Estabrook of Ward One was heartily in favor of the excellent condition of that branch and thought the purpose of the meeting a very good one.

Mr. Sheldon of Ward Three was in favor of the proposed club and thought the plans were wisely carried out it would prove a wise movement. He offered some excellent suggestions and closed by speaking in glowing terms of the Republican party and the merits of Thomas B. Reed.

Chairman Sands said the officers of the ward and city committee were servants willing to serve, but had been hampered by a lack of funds. He asked for good work for their party's cause, and had $50 to present to the treasurer of the new club. He favored the election of Republicans in municipal as well as in national and state affairs.

Mr. Hale said that the Republicans of Ward Five were doing good work. Mayor Cobb in his address said he had never hated the Democrats, but had always plied them for their destruction of all that was greatest and best in this country. Continuing he referred to the disastrous results brought about by Democratic administration and the encouraging outlook for the Republicans.

Hon. G. D. Gilman offered some excellent ideas regarding the governing of the club and spoke of the favorable results that were sure to follow their united efforts. He thought the New England delegates to the convention should be instructed to demand a gold basis.

Mr. Boynton, Mr. Staples and others made brief remarks.

The nominating committee returned with a constitution providing for officers, committees and rules for the club government which was accepted. The following officers having been nominated were unanimously elected: President, Robert H. Gardner; vice-presidents, J. Langford, N. H. Chadwick, L. G. Pratt, J. F. Ryder; general secretary, E. P. Tuttle; general treasurer, A. F. Hayward.

President Gardner after being escorted to the chair made an earnest appeal for perfect organization and spoke of what great good he hoped might be accomplished.

Leaders of the ward branches reported as to the number of members as follows: Ward 1, 100; Ward 2, 100; Ward 3, 100; Ward 4, 87; Ward 5, 101; Ward 6, 87; Ward 7, 75.

Motions and suggestions were then offered, including the introduction of the following resolution by President Gardner: The Republican Club of Newton recognizes that the prosperity and good government of the country depend on the stability of the currency, and the confidence at home and abroad that past or future loans to the United States, or to its citizens who are capital to develop its resources and build up its manufactures and commerce, will be paid at maturity in money available at its face value in every part of the world. The club believes that the financial plan adopted by the Republican convention of Massachusetts last March should be adopted by the national Republican convention, out of regard for the welfare of the country and respect for itself as representing a party which during more than a generation has led the country by reason of its fearlessness and distinct utterances on the issues of the day. The club therefore urges the delegates from this district to the most earnest efforts before the committee on resolutions, and if need be the convention itself, to secure the adoption of that plank.

FUNERAL OF JOSEPH N. BACON.

LARGE GATHERING OF OLD AND PROMINENT RESIDENTS OF NEWTON AT THE SERVICES.

The funeral of the late Joseph N. Bacon took place Monday afternoon from his late residence at the corner of Washington and Bacon streets, and the services were attended by a large gathering of old residents and prominent gentlemen from different parts of the city. The services were conducted by Rev. William H. Davis, pastor of Eliot church, of which the deceased was a life deacon, assisted by two of the former pastors of the church, Rev. Dr. J. W. Wellman of Malden, and Rev. Dr. Wolcott Calkins of Newton. Rev. Dr. Davis read from the Scriptures and delivered the prayer, and Rev. Dr. Calkins gave an address, speaking at some length upon the life of the deceased, his habit of doing good in such a way that even the recipients oftentimes did not know where the gifts came from, and his generous contributions for church and missionary purposes.

A special quartet consisting of Mrs. G. W. Barber, soprano; Miss Emily Emerson, contralto; Herbert Parks, tenor, and Edward L. Bacon, bass, rendered appropriate selections.

The floral tributes, which were very elaborate and in great profusion, included a pillow of roses from the directors of the Newton National Bank, a massive anchor of roses and pinks from the directors of the Newton and Watertown Gas Light Company, a cross of heliotrope and ivy from the trustees of the Newton Savings Bank, a tribute from the directors of the Citizens' Mutual Insurance Company, a pillow of white roses and ivy leaves from the firm of Timothy Stuart & Son; a pillow of roses and pinks inscribed "Father," from the children; a sheaf of pinks and two wreaths of roses, pinks and pansies, from the nephews and nieces; a wreath of white roses, and maidenhair ferns from the Eliot church, and there were many bouquets of cut flowers.

Among those present were the employees of the Newton National Bank and the Newton Savings Bank, also a delegation of the employees of the Newton and Watertown Gas Light Company. The remains were placed in the receiving tomb at the Newton cemetery temporarily. Later they will be interred in the family lot at the cemetery.

During the afternoon the places of business in Newton were closed out of respect for the departed. The Eliot block, the Newton National Bank building, Bacon's block, and the Newton & Watertown Gas Co.'s office were draped in mourning last Saturday.

Good Health

And a good appetite go hand in hand. With the loss of appetite, the system cannot long sustain itself. Thus the fortifications of good health are broken down and the system is liable to attacks of disease. It is in such cases that the medicinal powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla are clearly shown. Thousands who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla testify to its great merits as a purifier of the blood, its powers to restore and sharpen the appetite and promote a healthy action of the digestive organs. This is, it is not what we say but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does that tells the story and constitutes the strongest recommendation that can be urged for any medicine. Why not take Hood's Sarsaparilla now?

What Shall We Do With Our Charlie?

As long as the world stands, anxious parents will doubtless continue to ask this much vexed question. Anyone who could answer it satisfactorily would be a benefactor to all the troubled mammas whose Charlies slide down the rail of the balusters at the risk of their lives instead of walking properly down the stairs, slip out the back gate if the ashman leaves it ajar, and play in the vacant lot with bad boys until they are captured and brought home in a thoroughly demoralized condition, and when they are kept in the house, wish to try everything from the newspaper to the embroidered table-cover by chewing or cutting it.

This destructive tendency is simply the expression of the natural instinct of the child for investigation. The little explorer of this world's mysteries has many discoveries to make before he can understand his surroundings. When he tests through the most interesting page of the latest magazine before you have read it, do not imagine that he has a wilful desire to destroy the book; he is only making an experiment to ascertain the properties of paper. This spirit of investigation should not be repressed, but guided and directed. Give the growing mind food material on which it may expend its activity, and the result will be happiness to both parent and child.

In the first half of this century Friedrich Froebel, a man inspired by a deep love for every human soul, set before him the task of finding out how to attain this result. He visited the homes of peasants and saw how mothers played with and taught their children, and he so won the hearts of the little ones by entering into their games and living with them, that he was always followed through the street by a troop of children, and people seeing him at play with them would shake their heads and smile, and murmur, "The foolish old man!" At last he developed from the wealth of his intellect and his careful observations a system of education, to which he gave the name of Kindergarten.

As he struggled against many obstacles, endeavoring to demonstrate in practice the value of his ideas, it became evident that there was more in them than the philosophy of his cavillers dreamed of, and one after another, prominent educators like Diesterweg began to exclaim, "This is indeed a prophet!" Froebel provided means for training and developing the mind of the child from the earliest dawn of intelligence to the school age, but more especially for the period between three and seven years of age.

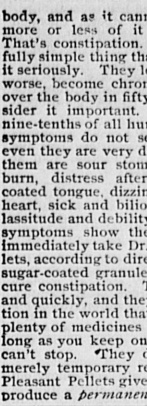

It is this system of child-training which constitutes practically the kindergarten of today, and which, in spite of much opposition and many obstacles, has won the approval and support of the best educators. It is also gradually but surely winning its way to the hearts and minds of the parents as they recognize its assistance in their efforts to direct the unfolding faculties of their little ones.

Chas. B. Hood, Broker and Manufacturer's Agent, Columbus, Ohio, certifies that Dr. King's New Discovery has no equal as a Cough remedy. J. D. Brown, Prop. St. James Hotel, Ft. Wayne, Ind., testifies that he was cured of a Cough of two years standing, caused by La Grippe, by Dr. King's New Discovery. B. F. Merrill, Bulwinkle, Mass., says that he has used and recommended it and never knew it to fail and would rather have it than any doctor, because it always cures. Mrs. Hemming, 222 E. 25th St., Chicago, always keeps it at hand and has no fear of Croup, because it instantly relieves. Free Trial Bottles at J. G. Whiskers that are prematurely gray or faded should be colored to prevent the look of age, and Buckinham's Dye excels all others in coloring brown or black.

The dream of Ponce de Leon was that he might discover the fountain of perpetual youth. He died searching for it. The fountain he was looking for was an impossibility, unnatural and chimerical. The nearest thing to the fountain of perpetual youth is a fountain of perpetual health. Health keeps people young. Sickness makes them old. Health means first of all, strength and regularity in the digestive functions. Put indigestible matter into the stomach, and it is likely to find lodgment in the bowels. It will stop their action. Poisonous, refuse matter, which should have been thrown off, is retained in the body, and as it cannot go any place else, more or less of it gets into the blood. That's constipation. It is such a wonderfully simple thing that people do not regard it seriously. They let it run on, let it grow worse, become chronic, and show itself all over the body in fifty ways before they consider it important. Constipation causes nine-tenths of all human ailments. Its worst symptoms do not seem very serious, but even they are very disagreeable. A few of them are sour stomach, flatulence, heartburn, distress after eating, foul breath, coated tongue, dizziness, palpitation of the heart, sick and bilious headaches, general lassitude and debility. When any of these symptoms show themselves, you should immediately take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, according to directions. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules, made on purpose to cure constipation. They do this perfectly and quickly, and they are the only preparation in the world that will do it. There are plenty of medicines that will give relief as long as you keep on taking them, but you can't stop. They don't cure; they give merely temporary relief. Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets give immediate relief and produce a permanent cure.

WAVERLEY AVENUE PROBLEM.

It is said that the aldermen will not grant a location to a street railway on the lower part of Waverley avenue, on account of the danger that would result to carriages and bicyclists using the street. The grade is so steep and the roadway is so winding and narrow that they say that serious accidents would be unavoidable. If the aldermen do not change their minds, then some other route must be chosen, by those who wish for the railway.

At the committee hearing, on Monday night, to see if some other route could be selected, the committee did not get very much help, as those present wanted to rehearse the testimony at the hearing and were not willing to talk about any compromise.

One route suggested by the committee was to run the road from Grant avenue across the field to Park avenue, down this street to Sargent, to Hyde avenue, then plunge into the fields again to Franklin street, and down Franklin and Centre to the railroad station. Or it might go by the old private way that comes out on Centre street opposite Bennington, and so down to the station.

But the route would not develop so much land as the Waverley avenue route, and hence would not be so beneficial to the city, which is the broadest way of looking at it, although it would be much better than no street railway at all, and would benefit the Hyde and Park avenue land, and the great extent of unoccupied territory at the top of the hill. Besides it leaves the direct thoroughfare through the city untouched, and preserves them for carriage driving.

It seems to be either this, or a route down Waverley avenue, Brighton and Marlboro streets, the two latter streets being unbuilt upon, so that there could be no objections, and there is land enough to widen to any extent at a low cost. This route would be only a very little longer than the Waverley avenue one, the grade would be better, and there would be little difficulty in getting the location.

The petitioners should see that it is much wiser to take the second best, if they can not get what they want, and if they are in earnest about desiring a railroad they should be willing to compromise and take what they can get. The aldermen seem to recognize that the city has as much interest in the railway as the land owners, as it would mean a large addition to the city's valuation. Brookline has street railways in all directions, and they have added to build up that town with beautiful residences. This section, with its natural advantages, would rival the most beautiful sections of Brookline.

With the prospect of the Democrats coming out for free silver, the Republican leaders seem to have changed their minds and to favor having both a candidate and a platform that can be interpreted both ways, according to the bias of the individual voter. The leading candidate is now vouchered for in the East as a sound money man, and in the West as all right on the silver question, in the hope apparently of sweeping in all the delegates. But the latest from the managers indicates that the platform is to be of the same order, and planks are being sought for that will mean one thing here and another in the silver states. While this may not be honest it is considered sharp politics by those who manage our politics for us, and who do not favor having the issues which divide the two parties too clearly defined, as that might mean the loss of some votes. It would have been so much more satisfactory to have had some candidate like Mr. Reed, whose views were too decided to be concealed, on the one side, and an out and out free silverite on the other, and to fight out the battle for honest money once for all. It would have been better for business, which is now suffering from the danger of debased currency, and under the present prospects, the times threaten to grow worse instead of better.
It is no wonder that business men are disgusted with politics and wish that presidential elections came not often than once in a century.

The legislature has adjourned and the usual relief is felt all over the state. For legislative tinkering, Massachusetts is ahead of any other state in the union, but that is not saying that we have better laws here, but rather the reverse. The legislature has enabled Gov. Wolcott to make a good deal of political capital by his vetoes of bills that ought never to have passed, and which were lobbied through by corporate influence. The Senate has as usual shown its inability to stand up for the interests of the people against the corporations, and the record made by the house shines by contrast. There are a number of senators whose acts have probably put an end to their prospects for future preferment, or would have done so were it not that the people have such short memories, and take so little interest in the causes that the hustler usually gets the prize, unless he comes into conflict with some other hustler. There have been many business questions of great importance before this year's legislature, which needed the best statesmanship that the state could furnish for their right consideration, and possibly the business men

may have been taught the lesson that they need to be more ably represented at the State House.

The news that Congress has really adjusted will be welcomed by everyone,
and especially by the business interests of the country, and all who are interested in its welfare. There never was a Congress more full of dangerous elements, and the Senate especially has been led by such a crowd of blatherskites, to use a mild term,
that it has lost the respect and confidence
of the people. The worst element in that body has held the leadership, and the few senators with any pretensions to character
and statesman-like qualities, have been in a hopeless minority, although to give them
due credit, they have seemed to consider it
a hopeless task to do anything to maintain the dignity or reputation of the Senate.
The House under the strong hand of Speaker Reed has come out of the session
with more honor, and has often blocked
the pernicious schemes of the Senate.
What would have happened with a weak man as speaker, and with a weak man as president, is something too dreadful to contemplate. The sober sense of the people ought to see the necessity of having the strongest and most trustworthy men possible to succeed the speaker and the president, men who have convictions and can be trusted.

The closing of the Nonantum Worsted
mills recalls the rather sensational political circular Treasurer Hall sent out in another presidential campaign. The strong competition that sprang up when woolen mills were supposed to be coming
money in more prosperous times, resulted in ruinous competition and over-production, and the result is that the mills that depended solely on a high tariff have been losing money. The closing of the mill will be unfortunate for Newton in one way, as it will take from the good people of Newton their chief field for charitable work,
and we shall no longer be able to boast of our Armenian or Hungarian Sunday schools, or French Protestant missions,
and Nonantum will become as quiet, and English, and commonplace as the other parts of Newton. The woolen mills of the country long ago ceased to employ native American labor, and possibly the closing of the mills will render that National restriction of immigration law unnecessary.

It has taken a good many years for Newton to get a Republican club organized, as
the city has always been so strongly Republican that one was not thought necessary. It was interesting to hear the speeches, on Saturday night, in favor of Reed and sound money, especially as everything now points to McKinley, but men who join political clubs always feel bound to support their party's nominee.
The club should confine its activity to state and national politics, however, and keep out of city politics, if it wishes to be successful and be a force for good in the community. Heretofore Newton has been well-governed, because the corrupting influences of national politics have been kept
out of it.

The Waltham Free Press looks into the future with this result: "Senator Niles of Watertown is said to be not unwilling to serve a third term, but we fancy Newton
will scoop that plum at the next convention
and Representative Harwood is quite likely to be the coming man."

An order was presented to the Common Council, regulating the speed of bicycles, through city streets. This is already done
by statute, and the order was very properly tabled.

SUNDAY is the 119th anniversary of the Stars and Stripes.

some other hustler. There have been
many business questions of great importance before this year's legislature, which needed the best statesmanship that the state could furnish for their right consideration, and possibly the business men
may have been taught the lesson that they need to be more ably represented at the State House.

The news that Congress has really adjusted will be welcomed by everyone,
and especially by the business interests of the country, and all who are interested in its welfare. There never was a Congress
more full of dangerous elements, and the Senate especially has been led by such a crowd of blatherskites, to use a mild term,
that it has lost the respect and confidence
of the people. The worst element in that
senators with any pretensions to character
and statesman-like qualities, have been in
a hopeless minority, although to give them
due credit, they have seemed to consider it
a hopeless task to do anything to maintain
the dignity or reputation of the Senate.
The House under the strong hand of Speaker Reed has come out of the session
with more honor, and has often blocked
the pernicious schemes of the Senate.
What would have happened with a weak
man as speaker, and with a weak man as
president, is something too dreadful to contemplate. The sober sense of the people ought to see the necessity of having the strongest and most trustworthy men possible to succeed the speaker and the president, men who have convictions and can
be trusted.

The closing of the Nonantum Worsted
mills recalls the rather sensational political circular Treasurer Hall sent out in another presidential campaign. The strong competition that sprang up when
money in more prosperous times, resulted
in ruinous competition and over-production, and the result is that the mills that
depended solely on a high tariff have been losing money. The closing of the mill will
be unfortunate for Newton in one way, as
it will take from the good people of Newton their chief field for charitable work,
and we shall no longer be able to boast of
our Armenian or Hungarian Sunday
schools, or French Protestant missions,
and Nonantum will become as quiet, and English, and commonplace as the other parts of Newton. The woolen mills of the country long ago ceased to employ native
American labor, and possibly the closing
of the mills will render that National restriction of immigration law unnecessary.

It has taken a good many years for Newton to get a Republican club organized, as
the city has always been so strongly Republican that one was not thought necessary. It was interesting to hear the speeches, on Saturday night, in favor of Reed and sound money, especially as everything now points to McKinley, but
men who join political clubs always feel
bound to support their party's nominee.
The club should confine its activity to
state and national politics, however, and
keep out of city politics, if it wishes to be successful and be a force for good in the community. Heretofore Newton has been well-governed, because the corrupting influences of national politics have been kept
out of it.

The Waltham Free Press looks into the future with this result: "Senator Niles of Watertown is said to be not unwilling to serve a third term, but we fancy Newton
will scoop that plum at the next convention
and Representative Harwood is quite likely
to be the coming man."

An order was presented to the Common Council, regulating the speed of bicycles,
through city streets. This is already done
by statute, and the order was very properly tabled.

SUNDAY is the 119th anniversary of the Stars and Stripes.

Ladies' Notes.

On Saturday afternoon, June 6, Mrs. Martin of Waltham lectured to the girls on Oratory, demonstrating the truth of what she had said by giving afterwards, to the delight of all who heard her, a very effective rendering of an extract from one of Miss Wilkins' stories. Vigorous and persistent applause brought her again to the platform, to recite this time in a most striking way a little poem on the bobolink and an extract descriptive of a boat race, from one of W. H. H. Murray's books, after which she left amid a storm of applause.

The dining room of Lasell looked its prettiest on the evening of June 6, when the Lasell Club entertained the senior class and its other guests on that occasion. Pretty festoons of smilax wreathed the pillars and swung gracefully from the chandeliers; the sideboards were a mass of ferns and flowers, and the tables were set in most enticing fashion. After the viands had received due attention various toasts were proposed and responded to amid much gay laughter and pleased applause. This banquet, one of the events of commencement time at Lasell, was a delightful success in every way.

Young mothers dread the Summer months on account of the great mortality among children caused by bowel troubles. Perfect safety may be assured to most who keep on hand DeWitt's Colic & Cholera cure, and administer it promptly. For cramps, bilious colic, dysentery and diarrhoea, it affords instant relief. WHAT IS

INHALER?

X-ODE is a product of electricity. It forms on asbestos, being electrically treated in a solution. This asbestos is put up in a glass vial. When the cork of the vial is removed and the air comes in contact with the asbestos, it emits from the inhaler a soothing gaseous substance, which will penetrate any part of the body. When inhaled through the nose or mouth it penetrates every nook and crevice of the mucous surfaces, kills the germ that causes the disease, and gives the system a healthy condition, thus effecting a permanent cure. It is unlike snuff, drugs or medicine. X-ODE penetrates parts that it would be impossible for drugs or medicines to do.

Catarrh, Asthma, Hay Fever, Coughs, Headache, Bronchitis, La Grippe, Etc., yield to its influence with marvelous rapidity.

This inhaler lasts from one to three years. Trial size inhaler, 10 cts.; large size inhaler, $1.00. All druggists or by mail.

HOW CARL THE GARDENER

BECAME KING CHARLES.

[Copyright, 1896, by Walter B. Guild, Boston.]

CHAPTER III.

The fairy now appeared to Carl and told him to rub his magic cup against the black horse's side, to pat his neck and stroke his ears, and then to get on his back.

There was something so soothing in the touch of the magic cup that the black horse immediately became gentle, and after Carl had petted him awhile the fairy told him that he could manage the black horse as easily as his own.

The witch's daughter meantime walked very slowly toward the gate, thinking what plans she could make to defeat this the most dangerous young man who had ever dared to approach the castle.

Carl followed her noiselessly and unseen to the reception parlor, where her mother was awaiting her return. Here Carl could see and hear all that was said.

The witch's daughter said to her mother that she had told Carl the truth about the enchanted chair and had given him so much information that, should he ever enter the castle except at the appointed hour, there was danger that he might destroy their power. To this the witch replied, "Then you must sit in the chair, so that he cannot carry it away."

The daughter answered: "I shall not sit in the chair." The witch insisted that her daughter should do as she had told her and the daughter insisted that the mother herself should guard the chair from being taken.

Carl watched his chance while they were quarreling, picked up the chair, walked to a side gate and was soon beside the black horse.

Just then the white rabbit hopped across his path and said that because the enchantment was now entirely destroyed, he must take the witch and her daughter back to the king at Winstar.

Carl kept the enchanted chair in his hand and gladly went back. He again rubbed the cup and became visible to the witch and her daughter, who were now very sorry for their wickedness and anxious to return to Winstar. Carl told them that they could ride the black horse, who would have to pass through Winstar before the enchantment for him would be broken.

As soon as they had given all the slaves their liberty, the witch and her daughter, who were now no longer under the power of the wizard king of the desert, but appeared as they really were, rode with Carl as fast as possible to King William's.

When, after riding three days, they arrived at their home, great was the joy of King William to find restored to him his queen and his younger daughter.

The white rabbit appeared on the scene, leaped upon the black horse and began to run upon his neck and to pull both his ears. Then, jumping to the ground, the rabbit disappeared, and there stood the Prince of Southland.

The king told Carl that this had been a double test, not only a test of his bravery, but a test of his faithfulness, for all other young knights who had been to the witch's castle had before they entered the gates been bewitched by the witch's daughter.

Having thus completed the tests, a royal proclamation was sent to invite the king of Southland and the kings of the surrounding countries to attend a royal wedding at the palace in Winstar. While the messengers were on their way it was arranged that instead of one wedding there should be two. Princess Violet's sister and the Prince of Southland were the other happy couple.

Good King William wished to travel and to visit his daughter in Southland, so, after much deliberation, he issued a proclamation, which read something as follows:

"As We William" (kings of Verne) always called themselves we are now in advanced years. We hereby appoint the prince, Sir Carl Schmidt, as king of Verne, and do hereby abdicate in his favor."

Carl made a wise, kind and brave ruler and subdued the wizard king of the desert, so that Verne was more prosperous under his reign than ever before.

With the blood full of humors, the heated term is all the more oppressive. Give the system a thorough cleansing with Ayer's Sarsaparilla and a dose or two of Ayer's Pills, and you will enjoy Summer as never before in your life. Just try this for once, and you'll not repent it.

NEWTON CEMETERY.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CORPORATION HELD ON WEDNESDAY.

The Newton Cemetery Corporation held its annual meeting, Wednesday afternoon, in the Farlow Memorial Chapel on the cemetery grounds.

A small number of trustees and others interested were present.

In the absence of President Haskell the meeting was called to order by Treasurer Otis Pettie. After the reading of the records by the clerk the superintendent's report was presented and the same was accepted and placed on file. It stated that 27 monuments and 123 tablets were erected during the year, 215 interments were made during the year, making the whole number 4,457. The receiving tomb had been largely used during the year. 51 lots have been purchased, making the total number of lot owners 1387. 741 days work had been done by men. There had been expended during the year $8,380 and there are 100 lots graded and ready for sale near the new pond, and 302 in other parts of the cemetery.

The report of the treasurer was next submitted and showed that from Jan. 1, 1895 to June 1, 1896, 51 lots had been sold for $10,085. The perpetual care fund had been substantially increased. The assets above liabilities amounted to $13,011.44 and the treasurer has $3,772.00 on hand.

The report of the trustees was read by Mr. Otis Pettie in the absence of President Haskell.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE NEWTON CEMETERY CORPORATION.

The most important improvement made in the cemetery during the last year has been the grading and sodding of the side hill west of the chapel. This work had been for some time appealing to us, as the finest landscape effects the grounds afford. Another improvement, already of approved utility by the experience of one winter, is the spacious pit made last autumn for the wintering of plants which need to be protected from cold.

The Horrigan land, so called, sloping towards Beacon street, has been reclaimed and seeded.

Various notes which were issued some years ago to make permanent improvements matured on the first day of April. To pay them off without embarrassment trustees for the amount of $7,000 were issued and gladly taken by some of the holders of the old ones as a convenient investment. All the old notes have been paid but four, of $500 each, and the money is on hand to pay them when presented.

The number of lots sold during the year was fifty-one and the amount realized for them was $10,085.

The amount added to the Perpetual Care Fund during the year was $3,775, of which $2,825 was on new lots, and $950 on lots formerly sold without the provision. This fund now amounts to $28,233.41 of which nearly $9,000 is invested. It will be seen that we are nearing the mark to which we have been for some time looking forward, a fund of $100,000, the income of which will be helpful in paying the annual expenses.

Calls for new work are constantly made which will be answered in the order of their importance as the means are provided. The extra work contemplated for this year includes the repairing of the avenues, and some extensions of drains for surface water.

The grounds are in as good condition as could be expected in a season on the whole unfavorable for grass, and the planting was never done with more taste and judgment.

The superintendent continues to deserve the confidence of the trustees, and his assistants in the several departments are faithful, efficient and diligent in the various matters referred to in the report was approved by the proprietors. A committee of three was appointed to nominate trustees for the present year and submitted the following which were duly elected: E. B. Haskell, Hon. J. F. C. Hyde, W. P. Tyler, A. R. Mitchell, Otis Pettie, Francis Morduck, George Frost, E. M. Fowle and E. E. Edger.

It was voted to empower the trustees to sell such land as they might deem desirable. A vote of thanks was passed expressive of the appreciation of the faithful and intelligent work of the trustees the past year.

At a meeting of the trustees which followed, the following officers were elected: E. B. Haskell, president; W. P. Tyler, vice-president; E. M. Fowle, clerk and auditor; Henry Ross, superintendent; Otis Pettie, treasurer.

Mr. James Perdue, an old soldier residing at Monroe, Mich., was severely afflicted with rheumatism but received prompt relief from pain by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "At times my back would ache so badly that I could hardly raise up. If I had not gotten relief I would not be here to write these few lines. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done me a great deal of good and I feel very thankful for it." For sale by A. Hinde at Newton; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre.

DOMESTIC MARTYRS.

Lots of women suffer constantly, and seldom utter complaint.

Good men rarely know the pain endured by the women of their own household, or the efforts they make to appear cheerful and happy when they ought to be in bed, their suffering is really so great.

Our habits of life and dress tell sadly upon women's delicate organizations.

They ought to be told just where the danger lies, for their whole future may depend upon that knowledge, and how to overcome it.

There is no need of our describing the experiences of such women here, they are too well known by those who have suffered, but we will impress upon every one that these are the never-failing symptoms of serious womb trouble, and unless relieved at once, a life will be forfeited.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound never fails to relieve the distressing troubles above referred to; it has held the faith of the women of America for twenty years.

It gives tone to the womb, strengthens the muscles, banishes backache and relieves all pains incident to women's diseases.

—The dullness of business at the differ-large number of employees. The Nonantum mill, which employs between 700 and 800

—A good game was played at Beacon

Newton Cricket Clubs, which, owing to the late start, ended in a draw. Newton batted first and put together 80 runs.
Davidson and Tupper batted in good form. McKerrow secured six wickets for 15 runs only. Zingari attempted to score against time, but at 6.30 had put up only 58, with five men out. Hamblin and Garner bowled well for Newton, and their fielding was rather loose.

—In their attractive little meeting place
St. Elmo hall, the Sunday school of the Buelah Baptist Mission celebrated its first anniversary last Sunday afternoon. It was originally intended to hold the exercises on the lawn in front of Mr. Hudson's

The services began with the singing of an original hymn by Mr. Stephen Moore of Newton. This was followed by scripture reading by Mr. Francis Tolman; prayer, by Mr. David Evans; duet, by Misses Grace Hudson and Eunah Nelson; reports of the secretary

WAVERLEY AVENUE RAILWAY.

THE ALDERMEN TRYING TO EFFECT A COMPROMISE ON LOCATION.

For the purpose of effecting a compromise satisfactory to both parties, the petitioners and remonstrants of the proposed Waverley avenue route were given a hearing before the street railway committee of the board of aldermen, Monday evening.

The leading representatives of both sides were present, each strengthened with new arguments.

Chairman Degen in calling the meeting to order stated fully the purpose of the meeting, saying that it was not to consider the street railway's petition for location of tracks on Waverley avenue, but to see if in some way a compromise could not be effected. He suggested the plan of running the cars from Grant avenue to Cotton street, through Park avenue to Sargent street, through Hyde avenue through vacant land to Franklin street, to Eldredge street thence to the depot.

Mr. Weston thought it would be a great advantage if the road should run on a continuation of Bennington street coming out on Centre street. As counsel for Mrs. Coburn he was opposed to the Waverley avenue route and as a land owner to the proposed compromise.

Mr. Cutler said that Mr. Buswell would favor the latter plan.

Mr. Foyers asked if the plan of swinging into Franklin street was not feasible?
He did not think it feasible to run the cars
in front of the churches.

The speakers that followed, with few exceptions rehearsed the arguments of the previous hearing and were called to order by the chair.

The aldermen asked the petitioners if they would be willing to subscribe the amount for the laying out of a new avenue across the vacant land. They considered this unfair and spoke of the few improvements that had been received in that quarter of the city.

In closing the hearing Chairman Degen said that a rule had been adopted allowing cars only on streets 50 feet wide and if cars were laid on Waverley avenue it would entail the widening of that street. He said the committee would like to know if the petitioners would be willing to subscribe this amount.

Mr. C. A. Haswell thought this unfair and called attention to the streets that were not 50 feet wide on which cars were running.

Alderman Degen said the board were not responsible for mistakes of other city governments and that the rule was a new one. He closed by requesting those present to confer with each other and see if some satisfactory arrangement could not be arrived at. The committee would wait until this had been done before taking any action.

The remonstrants were represented by Mr. Bullens, Mr. D. S. Emery, Mr. Snow,
Mr. Dewey, Mr. Powers and Mr. Weston, and the petitioners by Mr. Hammett, Mr.
Cutler, Mr. C. A. Haswell, Mr. Hatch and Mr. Turner.

Disorders afflict the human race, the large majority arising from impure blood. Hence the wide range of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the greatest blood purifier of the age.

"I feel it a duty to suffering humanity and to Hood's Sarsaparilla to tell what this medicine has done for me. I know it is an honest medicine. I had

Dyspepsia, and 3 years treatment by physicians did me no good. I could not eat half a cracker without distress. I fell off in weight from 180 to 149 pounds. I also suffered with rheumatism, and was pretty well used up. I heard about Hood's Sarsaparilla and began to take it. I soon noticed that it was helping me, and after taking several bottles found I could eat what I wanted without any distress.

Later I had salt rheum or

Eczema

come on my ankles, and I again took Hood's Sarsaparilla. The swelling went down and the eruptions healed. Then I had the grip and it left me in bad shape, with catarrh and other troubles. The doctor said I was all worn out, but might be patched up and live a year or two. But I clung to my old friend Hood's Sarsaparilla and was soon in my better health. I am alive yet, more than three years having passed since the doctor's prediction, thanks to Hood's. I am 69 years old, weigh 170 pounds, am in good health and recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all my friends for dyspepsia, catarrh and rheumatism, and also for cleansing the blood."

T. Sullivan, assisted by Rev. E. T. Sullivan. The ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast at the residence of Mrs. Capron on Beacon street. The guests included the immediate family and a few intimate friends from out of town.

—It is not generally known, but it has been stated on good authority, that the Methodist Episcopal society has appointed a committee which is considering plans for the building of a new church. The new edifice, it is rumored, will be of stone after the plans of the new one at Watertown and the cost will be about $10,000. The society has been greatly increasing its membership of late and the present quarters have proved too small. The proposed building will be built on the site of the present one, but what disposition will be made of the present church is not known.

—One of the most select musicales of the season occurred at the residence of Mrs. Frederick T. Parks, last Wednesday evening. The program was composed of compositions from the pen of Mr. William Lewis Glover, of Boston, to introduce whom the musicale was given. Some twenty of his songs were sung by Miss Benie, contralto, Miss Clement, soprano, Mr. Glover playing the accompaniments from memory. The vocal numbers were interspersed with piano solos played by the composer. Among those present were Mr. Geo. Burdett, Mr. Fred F. Bullard, Miss Harriet Whittier, Mr. Geo. L. Osgood, Mr. Wilhelm Heinrich, Dr. Fred Brooks, Mrs. Bruce Brooks, Mr. William Welch.

The best man was Mr. Bertram Brewer of this village, and Miss Fannie B. Edwards was the maid of honor. Messrs. G. Horace Williams, Herbert D. Williams, Frank Morton and Gardner Bassett were the ushers, and the bride was attended by Miss Edith Williams of Newton Centre and Miss Lillian Bragdon of Boston. The bride was gown in white muslin and carried lilies of the valley. She wore the usual white veil, caught up with a wreath of orange blossoms, the gift of Hon. J. R. Leonard. —Sad news has come to Capt. Joseph E. Cousens and wife. A telegram was sent to them from New York on Wednesday, (which did not reach them until 10 a. m. on Thursday), that their daughter, Leonora T. Cousens was very ill. In the afternoon on Thursday they received another dispatch that she was dead. She was well known in Newton and elsewhere as a singer, and had a large social acquaintance; as a singer she was filling an engagement in New York. The sad news finds the mother quite seriously ill. They have no other children.

—A story comes from Chestnut Hill telling of a very narrow escape from drowning of two venturesome youths of that place. It was thrilling to say the least and reads like one of Clark Russell's "Three Strand Yarns." The two boys, one a 14-year old son of Mr. Robert Gardiner and the other Morris Gray, a lad about the same age, were rowing on Hammond's pond, Monday afternoon, in all the rain. They had been sculling around for some time when the boat capsized and they were precipitated into the water. Clothed in rubber coats and boots they were unable to swim, and after struggling in the water for some time they managed to clamber up on the bottom of the overturned dory. Here they sat, dripping wet, for about an hour, making signals to attract those on shore until they were picked up by three men in a boat, who were out fishing and saw the boys' distress.

Resignation of Rev. Wm. Hall Williams.

Rev. Wm. Hall Williams has resigned the charge of St. Paul's church, Newton Highlands. Following is the correspondence between the rector and the vestry: St. Paul's Rectory, Newton Highlands, Mass.

June 6th, 1896.

To the Wardens and Vestry of the parish of St. Paul:

My dear sirs—I write to resign my office as rector and ask that my resignation may take effect on the first of September.

I need not assure you that I take this step conscientiously and religiously. It is my deliberate and anxious conviction that this is best for the parish and best for me. In contemplating this separation from much that I love it is a happiness to look back over more than six years of a mutual relationship which has, on your part, been marked by many courtesies and kindnesses for which I am very grateful. If during this ministry I have been the means of bringing any spiritual help to those who have worshipped with us, I can only be thankful that my Heavenly Father has permitted me this glad privilege. May I ask, in order that all may be as simple as possible, that the vestry will accept my resignation without any suggestion of reconsideration. With the earnest prayer that the closing days of our life together may be devoted to the strengthening of the highest interests of our parish, I remain, very faithfully and affectionately yours,

WM. HALL WILLIAMS.

Boston, June 6th, 1896.

The Rev. Wm. Hall Williams, rector of the parish of St. Paul of Newton Highlands:

Dear Mr. Williams—At the regular monthly meeting of the vestry of the parish of St. Paul of Newton Highlands, held Monday evening, June 8, the following motion was carried, viz:

Whereas, the Rev. Wm. Hall Williams has under date of June 6th, tendered his resignation of the rectorship of this parish.

Resolved, That the vestry accept the resignation of the rector according to his request, the same to take effect Sept. 1st next, as suggested in his letter.

Resolved, That in taking this official action the vestry for themselves and as the representatives of the parish, desire to place on record their recognition and appreciation of the high personal character of the rector, the unselfishness and devotion of his work, and the sincerity and true courage which have marked all his dealings with us. Your sincerely,

ARTHUR S. WILLIAMS, clerk.

THE CITY GOVERNMENT.

TELEPHONE HEARINGS OF CONSIDERABLE LENGTH—SEVERAL NECESSARY APPROPRIATIONS GRANTED—CITY CHARTER AGAIN—SYSTEM OF FIVE CENT TRANSFERS BETWEEN THE COMMONWEALTH AVENUE AND THE NEWTON AND BOSTON STREET RAILWAYS.

The board of aldermen held another lengthy session Monday evening, Mayor Cobb presiding. The meeting was called at 8.10 and did not adjourn until a half hour before midnight.

The first business was a hearing granted to the telephone company for location of poles on Homer and Valentine streets and Commonwealth avenue.

Mr. Allen representing the company, said that the petition asked for one pole on Valentine street, two on Homer street and five on Commonwealth avenue. These last five were those that had been placed there by the street railway company, properly constructed and painted the color of the telephone company. The petition was presented that the poles might remain in the name of the telephone company.

Alderman Degen said that the question was a complex one and asked for an explanation.

Mr. Allen explained that they were not asking for any new poles on Commonwealth avenue but simply to retain the ownership of the present ones.

The question of ownership was then discussed by Mr. Blaney, representing the street railway, and Mr. Allen, the telephone company. The street railway company contended that an agreement had been made concerning the poles and they had paid their share.

On motion of Alderman Degen the hearing was postponed until the matter had received further consideration.

The records of the last meeting were read and approved.

Among other papers to be acted upon in concurrence with the common council was the order which was tabled in the lower board requesting the mayor to petition the legislature to grant a new city charter.

Alderman Degen said that at his request it had been referred back to the special committee in the lower branch so that it might again get into the hands of the citizens.

The action was concurred in and the order referred to the special committee.

On recommendation of the inspector of buildings it was voted to refer the petitions of Messrs. Delan and Barry for stables to the board of health.

The petitions of Messrs. Roffe and Mullen for permission to erect wooden buildings, being recommended by the inspector of buildings, were granted.

A communication from the telephone company accepting the terms of a location was read by Alderman Green.

The communication of Helen Potter entering a protest against the assessment of taxes was referred to the highway committee.

A petition for a concrete sidewalk on River street was referred to the highway committee.

A petition for the location of one street light at the junction of Carlton and Centre streets was referred to the street lighting committee.

The petitions of S. I. Howard, representing Col. Taylor, for concrete sidewalks on portions of Washington and Centre streets were referred to the highway committee.

The petition of E. P. Burnham to move a building and small stable from Park to Emerson street was granted.

The petition of J. W. French to move two houses from Waverley avenue to Crafts and Clinton streets was granted.

An order appropriating $1000 for furnishing the hall in the new Clafin school building was passed.

On recommendation of the highway committee the petitioners for the abatement of land assessment were granted leave to withdraw.

The highway committee reported favorably on the petitions for concrete sidewalks on Melrose, Gibbs, Mechanic and Fairview streets.

An order permitting the telephone company to use the gas company's poles on Woodward street was passed.

An order granting the telephone company use of the gas company's poles on Adams street was passed.

A hearing was ordered for June 30 on the petition for concrete sidewalks on Clyde street.

Orders for concrete sidewalks on Mechanic, Clyde, Gibbs and Fairview streets were passed.

An order appropriating $1185 to be added to the sum awarded for land damages on Pearl street along the course of Laundry brook was passed.

The agreement of the trustees of the Newton Land Improvement Company was presented for ratification by Alderman Tolman.

The addition to the present agreement was read and discussed.

Alderman Green said that he did not wish to appear against the measure but the city was dealing with sharp business men and it was well to have its interests protected, he thought the company would expect every thing in the agreement and did not think it advisable to leave any loop holes.

The amount of gravel that was to be taken should be specified.

Alderman Tolman said the company would agree to give all gravel to the city and that didn't go below the meadow line.

Alderman Downs favored Alderman Green's idea and thought the city solicitor should be consulted.

Alderman White thought the board was in no condition to consider the question at this time and considered it an unfair proposition. The people occupying houses near the banks of the pond should pay a certain assessment. He was opposed to it at present and thought it meant not only the construction of the place but the perpetual care of it.

Alderman Tolman thought it would cost the land company about $40,000 and they were willing to pay besides, $5000 toward the construction of the roadway, which the city engineer had estimated would cost about $11,000. He called upon Alderman Noyes to state what improvement would be made in that section.

Alderman Noyes gave a brief account of what principal changes had been proposed by the company and considered by the committee; it would be a great improvement to that section and the proposition was a reasonable one.

The final disposition of the matter was its postponement until next week's board when the city solicitor and city engineer could be consulted to see if the interests of the city had been fully protected.

An order was presented by Alderman Tolman authorizing the city engineer to pay to the widow of the late city treasurer John A. Kenrick $2500, the balance of his year's salary had he lived. It was passed.

On motion of Alderman Degen, the order for location of the Commonwealth avenue street railway tracks on Centre street which had been previously tabled, was again taken up for consideration.

Alderman Degen introduced amendments which he desired to be added to the order providing that the passengers could ride on any part of the same line for five cents and that a five cent transfer would be issued allowing passengers to ride on that line and any line crossing the main tracks within the city of Newton for a five cent fare. The amendments were adopted.

The alderman moved the adoption of the order after the width of the track had been considered by the board and found to leave a driving space each side of the track of thirteen feet. Without further consideration it was adopted.

An order authorizing the mayor to order the national colors displayed on the public buildings and the City Hall closed on Wednesday, the 17th of June, an order was granted, a permit was granted Clark Bros. to move a building from Washington to Germain street; the petition of Lloyd Atkinson to run a barge from Newton Highlands to the Working Boys Home was granted; the city marshal was appointed an auctioneer; Mrs. Windowski's petition to keep her store open Sundays was refused; the petition of W. J. Bailey to move a barn from Newton to Newville was revoked as it was found that the permit had been granted before he purchased the building and also because there was considerable opposition to the proposition; $300 for the city solicitor's expenses was passed; an order appropriating $7223 for water main extension on Highland street, Commonwealth avenue, Hammond street, Wachuset and Monadnock roads was passed.

The street railway committee in its report recommended that the street railway be petitioned for location of tracks on Adams, Watertown and Bridge streets be granted leave to withdraw, and also recommended the route it petitioned for, of Adams, Watertown, Chapel and California streets over the bridge to Benis, providing that the street railway widen Chapel street and lay new sidewalks on the bridge.

The petitioners were granted leave to withdraw and the report of the committee accepted.

The petition of J. B. Potter to move a building across Washington street, was granted; petition to move a building from Washington street to a private way off the same street was granted; petition of the telephone company to construct poles and attach wires thereon on Gibbs and Summer streets was granted a hearing June 30th; petition of the same company for poles and wires on Walnut street from Mill street to Trowbridge avenue, was granted a hearing for June 30th; for wires on Waverley avenue and Park street a hearing for the same date; a petition of the gas company for location of poles on Los Angeles street, a hearing was ordered for June 30th; a petition for the laying of sewers on Exeter street, Commonwealth avenue, Watertown street, Lake avenue and Woodland avenue were referred to the committee on sewers.

The joint standing committee on sewers having reported favorably, hearings for the location of sewers on a portion of the following streets were granted for June 30th: Beacon street, Maple terrace, Ward street, and Wellman road.

The board having passed an order for the appointment of a committee to revise the city charter, reconsidered its action to the effect that a committee be appointed consisting of two aldermen, three councilmen, and not more than ten citizens. This order was passed.

A recess lasting from 10.45 until 11.25 was then taken, after which a petition giving permission to the telephone company to use the poles of the West End company on Tremont street was granted.

It was introduced by Alderman Green, who said that the West End company had placed poles there and the telephone company had been waiting while the action on the granting of the petition was pending.

On recommendation of the license committee August Peckham was given permission to locate a merry-go-round on Morse's field and Carl Miller a musician's license for a street band.

Meeting adjourned at 11.30.

Your Boy Won't Live a Month.

So Mr. Gilman Brown, of 34 Mill St., South End, Mass., was told the other day. His son had Lung trouble, following Typhoid Malaria, and he spent three hundred and seventy-five dollars with doctors, who finally gave him up, says Watson, "Your boy won't live a month."

He tried Dr. King's New Discovery and a few bottles restored him to health and enabled him to go to work a perfectly well man. He says he owes his present good health to the use of Dr. King's New Discovery, and knows it to be the best in the world for Lung trouble.

Some Direct and Incidental Results of Kindergarten Training.

ARTICLE II.

In Froebel's system of education the threefold nature of the child is considered and provision made for physical, moral and intellectual culture, and the mind is so employed by a connected series of occupations that its restless activity finds gratification in instructive work.

The children in a kindergarten are not only directed how to accomplish certain things but they are also encouraged to observe and invent for themselves. In this way habits of observation and attention are cultivated in valuable in the acquisition of knowledge, and which make the regular school work, when entered upon, much easier.

It has been shown that one year of the primary school can be omitted by children who have been a sufficiently long time in a kindergarten. How many people we meet everywhere who, having eyes, see not, and having ears, hear not? Who can doubt that the child who has been trained to use his eyes and ears has in his hands the magic key which shall open for him the different rooms of the great realm of knowledge?

One sometimes hears people say, "Oh, yes! they are all very pretty, these little chains and mats, but I want my child to learn something!"

To such I would answer, that, setting aside the occupations which cultivate a love for the good, the true and the beautiful, the amount of actual knowledge gained is not inconsiderable. For instance, those bugaboo to beginners in geometry, angles and their relations to one another, the different triangles and other geometrical forms, etc., become as familiar to the pupils of a kindergarten through their use of them, as their pencils or needles. By folding a square of paper according to dictation the little workers practically demonstrate that the two acute angles of a right-angled triangle are equal to the right angle, that the largest angle of a triangle is opposite the longest side, etc.

By the constant practice of counting blocks, sticks, etc., they become familiar with all the possible combinations of numbers, sometimes as high as twenty, a practical knowledge far more valuable to them than the ability to recite the multiplication table, and by the use of their blocks they gain an idea of square and cube root, and of the addition and subtraction of halves, quarters, thirds and fifths, thus making the subject of fractions somewhat intelligible to them before they begin the study of arithmetic.

I have not mentioned the means employed to develop the child's artistic nature, such as the modeling in clay, the laying symmetrical figures with cubes and plates, the painting and the drawing, and a bare outline can give no conception of the many-sided and fundamental development afforded by a complete kindergarten training.

ESSAY ON YOUTHFUL ANATOMY.

A BOY'S PRIZE STORY ON BONES.

[From Harper's Round Table.]

The Junior League is a paper "published semi-occasionally, or whenever it is convenient, by children, for children, in aid of children." In the May issue are printed a number of articles that took prizes in a recent story competition, and from among these we copy the following essay on "Bones," which took the prize in class V.

"Bones is the frame-work of the body. If I had no bones in me I should not have so much shape as I have now. If I had no bones in me I should not have so much motion, and teacher would be pleased, but I like to have motion. Bones give me motion, because they are sometimes hard for motion to cling to. If I had no bones, my brains, lungs, heart and larger blood vessels would be lying around in me and might get hurt, but no my bones get hurt, but not unless it is a hard hit.

"If my bones were burned, I should be brittle, because it would take the animal out of me. If I was soaked in acid, I should be limber. Teacher showed me a bone that had been soaked; I could bend it easily. I should rather be soaked than burned. Some of my bones don't grow close to my others snug, like the branches to the trunk of a tree, and I am glad they don't for if they did, I could not play leap-frog and other good games that I know.

The reason why they don't grow that way is because they have joints. Joints are good things to have in bones. They are two kinds. The ball and socket joint like my shoulders is the best. Teacher showed it to me only to the thigh of a cow. One end was round and smooth and white. That is the ball end. The other end was hollowed in deep. That is the socket and it fits itself. It is the only machine that fits itself. It never creaks like the school door. There is another joint that doesn't seem much like a joint. That is the skull. It don't have no motion. All the bones put together make a skeleton. If I leave any or put any in the wrong place it ain't no skeleton. Some animals have their skeletons on the outside. I am glad I ain't them animals for my skeleton like it is on the inside wouldn't look well on my outside.

DEATH OF MRS. CLAFIN.

WIFE OF EX-GOVERNOR PASSES AWAY IN WHITINSVILLE—TAKEN SUDDENLY ILL FRIDAY MORNING AT HOME OF FRIENDS SHE WAS VISITING, AND END CAME WITHIN AN HOUR.

Mrs. Mary B. Clafin, wife of Ex-Gov. William Clafin of Newton, died at the residence of Mrs. John C. Whitin in Whitinsville last Friday. She had been visiting the Whitins for a week, and there had been given several social gatherings and dinner parties in her honor.

She had appeared in her usual health and spirits, but was suddenly taken ill about 11 o'clock Friday morning, and within an hour was dead. Beside her husband, she leaves two sons, Adam B. and Arthur Clafin.

Mrs. Clafin was well known in Newton, where she spent the greater portion of her married life. She was of the well known Davenport family of Hopkinton, where she was born about 20 years ago. Her father was William Davenport. She married Gov. Clafin almost 40 years ago, the Governor then being in business in St. Louis. She was a woman of great respectability, benevolent and ambitious. Soon after they were married they built a palatial house on Walnut street, Newtonville, where Mrs.

Address of Mrs. Isabel G. Jennings Parker at Lasell Seminary, June 10.

Dear Sisters of the Alumnae Association:—I will begin my resume of the first ten years of Lasell by reading an extract from a letter from Mrs. Maria Warren Hayden of the class of '58.

"I made an attempt some years since, to learn the whereabouts of the first ten classes, and ever since I have had great admiration for ancient history, and reverence for historians. The middle decade of this century is farther away than we realize, until we undertake such researches as you and I have made.

My interest in my Alma Mater does not decrease and my confidence in her methods is shown by the fact that three daughters have been students there, two of them for three years, and the third, until she was called from Lasell to Paradise. Long live Lasell!"

Here is loyalty unexampled. Had I known of Mrs. Hayden's effort, I might have been discouraged. But we are glad to hear from a few early graduates.

The first class was graduated in 1854. Of the five members two are living. I have a letter of recent date from Mrs. James R. Wellman of Fitchburg. Her maiden name, Louise N. Wood, by which she is very pleasantly remembered. She was less than three months a wife, and devoted many years to the care of her parents. Mrs. Rosa Heywood Brown is also a widow, in a beautiful home in Fitchburg, where she is most kind and charitable.

Mrs. Kate Merrifield French of Worcester, married about a year after graduation, and died a year and a half later, leaving a baby boy. Mary Thresher Stillwell of Dayton, Ohio, was married about the same time with Kate Merrifield, and died eight years later, leaving a daughter who has grown into a charming woman, married ten years ago to a Professor in Western Institution. The name of the Professor and of the Institution, Mrs. Wellman did not give me. (Reserved for future inquiry.) Mrs. Jennie Whitin Lasell was the oldest of the class, 20 years and six months at the time of her graduation. Prof. Lasell losing his heart to her, and not wishing to embarrass her by remaining in the seminary, took a six months leave of absence, his place being filled by another teacher. The engagement was to be the profoundest of secrets. But now and then a suspicion would arise, which by every stratagem, Miss Whitin tried to allay. French was spoken at table. "Mlle Whitin vous-elle?" said her vis-a-vis, "Je crois que vous avez le sel?" was the rejoinder from another part of the table. Miss Whitin kept her countenance, and wrote at once on reaching her room, to a cousin, begging him to come help her hoodwink her schoolmates. He duly appeared and made love to her in the most approved fashion, so that every one was thrown off the scent. Going to the station across the fields, where instead of the elegant residences now to be seen, there was an extremely narrow pathway, he said, "Is the path wide enough for me, or shall I take the pressions was repeated in all variations by the classmates until the end of the year, when the real suitor reappeared, and the happy marriage occurred not long after. Though greatly hindered by delicate health from active participation in her husband's labor, she supplemented it in every possible way. We remember her during those years as the brightest, wittiest, and withal, most sensible of little women. She had a positive influence on every one and her suggestions were always regarded both by her husband and by his associate, Principal Prof. Briggs. One evening of hers I just now remember. Halfway up the long winding stairway, she said, "My epitaph will be like that of a woman who retired if put on her tombstone, 'Died of stairs'."

In all to pass in Prof. Briggs' numerous and wonderful improvements the elevator is still to come. No doubt it will come. This might sound a trifle curious any other than an old pupil, who today remembers those stairs and feels a sense of weariness in the spinal column, and the motor muscles of the pelvic extremities.

The story of her life after leaving Auburndale was told here a year ago, when we were mourning as we must ever mourn her death on the 12th of March, 1935. By the provision in her will, a superb memorial church is to be erected in Whitinsville. Two sons and a daughter remain, to call her memory blessed.

In the class of '59, nine in number, was Hattie Hardy Williams, sister of Mrs. E. H. Walker of our village, the well-known missionary mother. It seems but yesterday the sad news came of her early death, after her marriage to Rev. W. F. Williams, and entrance upon missionary work in Turkey. In this class was Laura Lasell, daughter of the founder of the seminary, Sarah Pratt became Mrs. John C. Whitin, and still lives in Whitinsville. Clara Conant Whitson has two fine (young men) sons, and Clara Robinson Wadleigh one daughter, twenty-six.

Extremely meagre as this account is, it may have some interest, and I offer it with regret that I had no more material from which to construct it.

We all rejoice in the youth and magnificence of our Alma Mater, and can only regret that the sunshine should be given us weather-beaten old soldiers, and that the rain should have pelted so mercilessly upon the sweet young graduates of today.

These pills are easy in action and are particularly effective in the cure of Constipation and Sick Headache. For Malaria and Liver troubles they have been proved invaluable. They are guaranteed to be perfectly free from every deleterious substance and to be purely vegetable. They do not weaken by their action, but by giving tone to stomach and bowels greatly invigorate the system. Regular size 25c. Sold by J. G. Kilburn, druggist, Nonantum, and Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls.

that class was examined! When they sat on this platform side by side, and were questioned as Prof. Lasell alone knew how to question in Butler's Analogy, Hopkins Evidences of Christianity, and in Karnes. Then Mr. Briggs had his turn, their knowledge of Whately's Logic and Robinson's Mathematical Astronomy was tested most severely. The self-possession, the readiness, the knowledge of those girls was wonderful. I do not think a severer ordeal could be devised. I remember that a year later I made an ignominious failure, though reasonably fond of study and considered a passable scholar. "What was the matter with you?" said a classmate, "you knew it all." I could not tell, except that at that moment I seemed to know nothing. The classes of today may be thankful for the more reasonable methods, which give a better opportunity, no doubt. But all this only emphasizes my admiration when I remember how bravely those ten splendid girls, and many others, endured the ordeal.

During that year the gifted and lamented Kate Field was a pupil here. One of the class speaks of her bright and witty ways in reciting Homer's & Blair's Rhetoric and her free criticism of the methods of the teacher, stating at the same time how she would teach. She was greatly admired. One evening there was an entertainment, when she sang Casta Diva, and when she took the part of Rome in a tableau. Mr. Lasell was the Goth, standing in triumph over beautiful Rome, crouching at his feet. He wore a fine coat of wolf-skin and a marble pedestal from the parlor represented the fallen pillars of the city. Her compositions were far above the ordinary and were a delight to us all, and she a great favorite among the girls.

The class of '57 was my own, and we held supremacy in point of numbers until last year when there were twenty-one graduates. We were fifteen in number, of whom twelve remain, six living still in Newton, and generally present on occasions like this. One in Wellesley Hills, one in Newton Centre, and one in Auburndale. Of the three who reside at a distance, I have a letter from Miss Mary Wooster of Deep River, Conn., which I will read.

My life, since I left school has been such a very uneventful one I have no details to give that would be of interest to my classmates. "Blessed is the nation that has no history," for my quiet life has been a happy one. I am still living in the home where I was born, and give much of my time to painting, which I enjoy just as much in the days when my eyes did not need the aid of spectacles. I should be glad to hear from my old classmates. Give my kindly greetings to them all. Hoping to hear from you again I am with kind regards, your classmate,

MARY MCC. WOOSTER.

Mrs. Fanny Sykes Davis has been actively associated of late with Woman's Club Work, and Mrs. Flora Drew Sampson is also prominent as a member of many clubs and a promoter of modern movements for the advancement of women. One, at least of her classmates is obliged to fall behind, not being able to keep up with the breathless pace at which women's reformation is progressing. Perhaps advancement or emancipation. There may be a halt later on, when some of us slower ones can overtake the procession.

Mrs. Emma Sears Gilman should also be mentioned in the list of women active in woman's work in Newton. There appears to be none of the lazy indifference laissez-faire character in our class. Miss Carrie Spear is still doing splendid work in teaching, as I can testify, having been present at a Latin recitation not so long ago. I remember our graduating day, thirty-nine years ago, with a sense of bewilderment at the passage of time. Our valedictorian, the sweet, noble Lizzie Miller, has entered into rest, and the beautiful Ernie King, of whose queenly face and perfect features we were so admiringly proud. Her mother was a Greek, and no other type of beauty was ever seen from this type of walls.

From Mrs. Anna Reed Wilkinson of the class of '58, I have a breezy letter from New York, full of kind words for her classmates, and of thankfulness for the new mercies added to her overflowing cup, in the addition of two beautiful daughters, and a noble son to her family by the marriage of all her three children. She has been very prominent in missionary work. We remember her great enthusiasm on this subject, when she was a pupil here. The class numbered eleven, of whom seven are living. Mrs. Hayden of Newton, whose letter I first read, was among them.

The class of '59 also numbered eleven. Among them was Mrs. Emma Claflin Ellis, Mrs. Lucia Jacobs Meigs, Mrs. Rebecca Porter, and Mrs. Emily Woodward. Porter, whom you have heard today. A goodly list of rare and talented women. I have no word from the class of '60. Miss Anne Whitney, the renowned sculptor was one of that class and Miss Althea Pulsifer Blodgett, wife of the musical director of Smith College, Northampton. Also there is Miss Martha B. Lucas, highly deserving of the most honorable mention by reason of her long service as treasurer of this association.

I must hasten to mention a letter from Mrs. Annie Sheldon, Brown of Newton, city, who was one of the nine graduates in 1861. Most of this class are widely scattered, but Mrs. Brown sends kindest greetings to us all. She has a daughter twenty-one years old, and one seventeen. Clara Conant Whitson has two fine (young men) sons, and Clara Robinson Wadleigh one daughter, twenty-six.

Extremely meagre as this account is, it may have some interest, and I offer it with regret that I had no more material from which to construct it.

We all rejoice in the youth and magnificence of our Alma Mater, and can only regret that the sunshine should be given us weather-beaten old soldiers, and that the rain should have pelted so mercilessly upon the sweet young graduates of today.

Neighborhood Tournament Off.

The Neighborhood Club of West Newton has given up its tennis tournament this year. Larned and Foote will be abroad, and R. Stevens does not like dirt courts, so the American talent would be reduced to Hovey, Hobart and Wrenn.

The disappointment comes from the other side. Dr. Pim and Mr. Ma honey have business engagements, and wish to play in the English tournaments. Dr. Pim has promised to come next year, and Mr. Harry Ayer, who made the 1895 tournament so successful will try and get the Baddeley brothers.

Some tennis players on the other side are sensitive about the expense question. They do not care, even although their presence at a tournament makes money for a club, to accept travelling and hotel expenses. Doubtless this is the right way of limited means from helping the club and giving followers of the sport a great deal of pleasure.

Taken in time Hood's Sarsaparilla prevents serious illness by keeping the blood pure and all the organs in a healthy condition.

The things that people see are inside of them and not outside. No two people see the same thing exactly alike. One woman may look out at a beautiful scene and see all the beauty and restfulness and grandness that there is in it. Another one will look out at the same scene and see nothing. One will find enjoyment in a brilliant company, in music, in dancing, in an exquisitely prepared dinner. Another will enjoy these things half as much—another not at all. The things that people see are inside of them. What one sees and what one enjoys depends upon the bodily condition—depends upon the capacity for enjoyment—depends upon the health and the vitality. The sick man has pain or discomfort so impressed upon him that he has no time to think of much else. A weak man has all he can do to struggle for mere existence. He has no strength to use in procuring pleasure. His performance are limited by his strength. He can do only a few things so he can enjoy only a few things. The man who is perfectly well and vigorous enjoys life to the full. The bedridden invalid enjoys it not at all. The man who is half sick and half well gets out of life about half what he ought to. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes people well. It doesn't do it in a miraculous way. There isn't anything unnatural about it—it is the most natural thing in the world. It simply puts the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver, the bowels, in perfect order and thereby makes the blood pure and rich. It doesn't have to do anything else. Nature does all the rest. All diseases live and thrive on impure blood. Keep a stream of pure, rich, red blood flowing into a diseased spot, and the disease will not stay. A man lives on rich, pure blood, and disease dies on it. That's the difference. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes pure, rich blood—makes men and women strong and healthy; brings good appetite, good digestion and builds up solid, healthy flesh.

We have made special and exclusive arrangements with the author for a series of new and charming fairy stories. For some time they will be one of our special features.

HOW I CAME TO KNOW THE FAIRIES IN TWO CHAPTERS.

(Copyright, 1896, by Walter B. Guild, Boston.)
CHAPTER I.

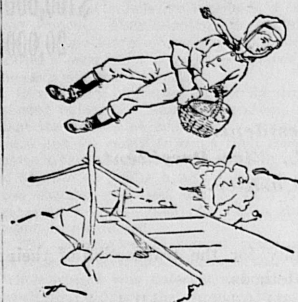

When I was about your age, on one of the very icest days in the whole winter, mother sent me to a sick neighbor to carry some little cakes and apples.

The road was very icy. At that time there were two reasons why no one in the country ever put coal ashes upon the sidewalks.

In the first place, they didn't burn coal to get the ashes, and in the second, they didn't have sidewalks.

With no ashes on the sidewalk, no sidewalk under the ashes, and the best walking to be found in the middle of the road, I was obliged, as you can guess, to walk very carefully.

The nearer I got to the brook the smoother and more slippery was the road, until just in the middle of the bridge, which wasn't more than 10 feet long, what should happen but slip went my feet, and I began to roll into the brook!

Now, I was always very careful of what was in that basket. Sometimes it carried eggs to the grocer and brought back groceries and such things, and once in a great while it came back with some candy or oranges. Broken eggs don't sell very well in the country, even if you do need to break them for custards. Most people are quite fussy as to the exact time and manner of breaking eggs.

That is why I was so careful of the basket that when I fell my first thought was to hold it up, just as if there was danger of breaking the cakes and apples.

In thinking of the basket and of the eggs which were not in it I forgot all about the brook and hit my head upon the ice so lightly that it never hurt a bit. But just as I was about to get up a voice said: "Too bad we didn't catch him sooner. Perhaps he is hurt."

Sometimes people can think very fast, and, as no one was in sight, I thought that the fairies, or some invisible friends, must surely have caught and let me down very gently.

While I lay there with my eyes partly shut, but nevertheless so that I could see about me, some one said, "We must take him to our palace, as you know what a friend the queen was to his great-grandmother, long before he was born."

Now I had heard grandmother tell how her grandmother used to talk in her sleep about the kind fairies, and while this all flashed through my mind in a twinkling I was quiet as a mouse in order to see what would happen.

I had not long to wait, for in an instant I floated through the air to the big hill just beyond the brook, and, without any trouble, went headforemost into the side of it.

Where it had always looked like a piece of common, solid ground there was now a long, bright tunnel, and as we went farther the tunnel grew to be an immense room hung with the most beautiful draperies of ferns and flowers. There were great chairs made of trees and little chairs made of bushes, all trained so you could see just as plainly as could be that they were big seats and little seats cushioned with soft moss.

They laid me down so gently on a moss sofa that it would not have awakened a sleeping baby, and in front of the sofa was a handsome fountain.

It was all so strange to me that I was just a little afraid to stay, so rising on my elbow I said, "Please, good, kind fairies, take me home, and, unless you are willing, I won't ever tell any one about your house."

Just then a large, handsome, flying cat came and lit at the back of the moss cushion. You may be sure I was scared, and jumped straight into the middle of the fountain, but the instant that the water touched my face all fear left me and I could see the fairies coming in at the other end of the room, and I knew, without any one telling me, how kind they were to everybody.

You see, this is their magic initiation fountain, and any one who gets into it, as I did, is able to see all the fairies, and their big brothers, and everything in fairyland.

When the fairies saw that I knew them, they were surprised, and all commenced to scold the two big brothers who had brought me there and left a mortal boy without any one to watch him and without throwing the sleep veil over his eyes.

The two big brother fairies said: "Now, just wait until the queen and the doctor come. Then you can hear our story and know how much you ought to blame us."

After two or three minutes an army of fairies, with the other five big brothers, each as tall as a meeting house steeple, and the moonlight dancers no bigger than your thumb, and fairies some about your size and some larger, came in and stood around us in a circle. The two big brothers who had brought me there and I were in the center.

The queen was very beautiful, and her daughter was the sweetest tempered and most beautiful fairy who had ever lived.

When the princess saw me, she said, "Poor little Mortal Boy, he did not mean any harm, and our big brothers have never before been so forgetful."

The queen looked very serious, and asked me to tell her all about how I came there.

I was so much surprised and felt so bashful in the presence of the queen and Princess Beautiful that I even forgot to take off my cap.

If my picture could have been taken then, it would have shown the meekest and most bashful looking little fellow you ever saw. That is just why the fairies said nothing about this bad mannered forgetfulness.

Whenever one makes a mistake or is a little green or awkward appearing, the fairies always try to make such a person at ease. They never tease or torment bashful people.

After hearing my story she turned to the big brothers and said, "Now, why did you forget to put the sleep veil over his eyes, and why did you fail to set a guard over him so he could not get into the initiation fountain?"

"Most kind and gentle queen," said the big brothers, "all that this Boy Mortal has told is true. He was going to do good to a neighbor. When he fell, we thought he was badly hurt, and our first work was to find the court doctor. It was thinking how to help him that made us forget the sleep veil."

"Because you tried to help him you are pardoned," said the queen, "and will receive another golden star on your ribbons as a sign of another good deed."

Then, looking at me, she said, "Boy Mortal, will you be wise and never, never tell about our houses and lands until we give you leave or until the spell we weave is broken?"

Of course I promised and have kept the secret all these years until you broke the spell.

A fairy came to me this morning and sang:

They've broken the spell,
They've broken the spell,
They've broken the spell
By behaving so well.

That is how I am sure that it is all right now to tell you anything you may wish to know about fairyland.

Well, the queen said: "You may have one wish if you wish wisely and not be too selfish. Before you wish," she said, "remember that the most selfish wishes bring least comfort when granted. You can only have one wish today, so be very, very careful not to wish that which may cause you more sorrow than joy."

"May I speak to him before he wishes?" said the Princess Beautiful to her mother, the queen.

"You may give him just one warning," said the queen.

The princess then led me to a little tent of evergreens, with the most curious trimmings of moss inside, and rocks all covered with moss for cushions, and said: "Boy Mortal, beware and do not wish for great riches. Now look in this mirror and see against what I have warned you."

GEORGE PETTEE PASSES AWAY.

WAS ONE OF THE MOST PROMINENT RESIDENTS OF NEWTON UPPER FALLS.

Ex-Alderman George Pettee, one of the most prominent residents of Newton Upper Falls, died at his residence on Pennsylvania avenue, Monday morning, aged 68 years. He was born at Newton Upper Falls in 1828, and was the son of the late Otis and Matilda Pettee, who were among the first settlers of the place in 1818. He attended the public schools of Newton, and then entered Wilbraham Academy, from which he graduated with honors, and then entered into business with his father and brother at Newton Upper Falls in the manufacture of cotton machinery and cotton products. Subsequently the present Pettee Machine Company was formed, with which he was connected until 1881, when he retired from business.

He was early in life identified with the old volunteer fire department of Newton, and was its honored chief for several years. He was always interested in public affairs, and was elected to the common council in 1875, in which body he served until 1884, when he was elected to the board of aldermen, from Ward 5, serving until 1890. He was subsequently nominated by the Republican party for mayor, but was defeated by Hon. H. E. Hubbard in a close contest. He was always a staunch Republican, and assisted his party at every opportunity. While a member of the board of aldermen he was president of the body for four years. He was a director of the First National Bank of West Newton.

The deceased was of quite a literary turn of mind and composed many poems. For several years he had been a sufferer from malaria. His last illness was of two weeks' duration and from the same cause, and he sustained a slight paralytic shock Sunday night. He leaves a widow and two daughters.

Newton A. A. 17, Newtowne O.

The N. A. A. had an easy thing Saturday afternoon in the game with the Newtowne club of Cambridge, defeating it by the score of 17 to 0. Dowd pitched a great game for Newton and Draper's support behind the bat was the feature of the game. Newton won by heavy hitting aided by costly errors by their opponents.

If it required an annual outlay of $100.00 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount. Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents, that being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; E. —The city government have refused the street railway company the right to lay tracks on Bridge street to Bemis, but favor the plan of running up Adams, Watertown, Chapel and California streets, thence across the bridge to Bemis. The railway company will have to widen Chapel street and strengthen the bridge.

—No one has felt the depression caused by the shutting down of the mills more keenly than the store keepers of this place. The falling off of business has been very noticeable the past week as a greater part of those who were turned out of employment have left for Canada, to seek work.

One store keeper whose trade as a rule is very brisk, said in answer to a GRAPHIC reporter's question, "we are not doing anything." It has been the habit of the merchants of this place to accommodate mill employees by cashing pay roll checks on Saturday morning. When they were presented last Saturday morning nearly all the merchants with the exception of Mr. George Hudson refused to honor the checks. Some of the store keepers when they heard of Mr. Hudson's action began doing the same, but the majority still refused to accept the company's checks.

GREAT PITCHING BY DOWD.

BY HIS WORK NEWTON IS ENABLED TO WHITEWASH NEWPORT—NEW YORK WANTS HIM.

The Newton Athletic Association nine whitewashed the strong Newporters on the Newton Centre grounds, Wednesday afternoon. The pitching of Dowd of the Newtons was the best he has done this year, while the catching of Draper was perfect. The fielding of the home nine was superb. In the first inning the Newporters had three men on bases, when Mason captured a fly, and the nine retired. In each of the next seven innings, the Newtons allowed but one man to reach the bases in any one inning.

Arthur Irwin, the manager of the New Yorks, was a deeply interested spectator, and could not help admiring the work of Dowd, with whom he is understood to be negotiating. Bowen, in left field, did exceptionally fine work. He has been in the harness 22 consecutive years.

A Word or Two to those suffering from catarrh or the thousands subject to severe attacks of cold in the head, will not be amiss if a sure remedy can be offered. Ely's Cream Balm has become a favorite in all sections of the United States, because of its effectiveness. Your cold in the head will be quickly relieved by it, and the severest attack of catarrh will yield to, and be perfectly cured by a thorough treatment. Catarrh is not a blood disease, but an inflammation of the passage of the nose and throat, due to climatic changes.

CHILDREN'S SUNDAY.

With appropriate services Children's day was observed in nearly all the churches Sunday afternoon and evening. Beautiful decorations of wild flowers and plants adorned the pulpits and platforms and interlarded the church.

At the Central Congregational church, Newtonville district, there was a baptismal service in the morning, and at 5 p. m. the pastor, Rev. J. M. Dutton, preached a sermon for the children. At the Second Congregational church, West Newton, the pastor preached to the children in the morning. At the Congregational church, Auburndale, there was a baptism of children in the morning, with a special sermon to the children by the pastor, Rev. C. M. Southgate, and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon there was a children's choral service. At the Methodist church, Newton Centre, several children were baptised. Rev. Mr. Freeman, the pastor, preached to the children upon "Our Leaders of Tomorrow," and a concert was given in the afternoon. At the Newton Methodist church Prof. Morris delivered a sermon, and there was a children's concert in the evening.

At the Methodist church, Newtonville, flowers and prizes were given to the children. A concert was given in the evening. There was a christening of children and confirmation at the Unitarian church, Newton Centre, with a sermon by the pastor.

Hood's Made Him Strong.

"My little boy three years old had a severe attack of what the doctors called catarrhal grip. He seemed to catch cold every day. We had tried everything, but Hood's Sarsaparilla and he is now in good health, is fleshy and strong. We believe Hood's Sarsaparilla is an excellent medicine." Mrs. Shaw, 135 Cumberland Rd., Lowell, Mass.

A New Parkway.

The park commissioners of Newton with in a few days will probably make a proposition to the Watertown board of health and the park commission for the abatement of the nuisance caused by Cook's pond and incidentally by what remains of Boyd's pond. The latter is partly in Newton and partly in Watertown, while the former is wholly within Watertown territory.

The plan is for both municipalities to combine in abating the nuisance and improving the surroundings of the ponds.

Boyd's pond has been drained and partly filled in. Thus far nothing has been done to Cook's pond, from which a nauseating and unhealthy odor arises, and is wafted by the summer breeze to the houses in the vicinity, the greatest complaint coming from residents of Morse field and Newton. If Watertown will do its share, the park commissioners of Newton offer to build the boulevard from Bulfinch's pond, following the course of Laurel tree brook to the basin of Boyd's pond and to Morse street in Watertown.

From that point they want the Watertown authorities to continue to the boulevard on either side of Cook's pond to the Charles river, where a connection will be made with the proposed Charles river parkway.

Should Watertown decide to accept the generous offer, it will give her citizens a direct connection with Newton's extensive system of boulevards. It will also give the citizens of Newton a direct driveway to Cambridge. The expense of building the driveways on the shores of Cook's pond would not be heavy, the land owners on the south side offering to give the land necessary for the project.

Young mothers dread the Summer months on account of the great mortality among children caused by bowel troubles. Perfect safety may be assured those who keep on hand DeWitt's Colic & Cholera cure, and administer it promptly. For cramps, bilious colic, dysentery, and diarrhoea, it affords instant relief. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; W. P. Thorn, Auburndale.

stress in the stomach and other symptoms of dyspepsia demand careful attention to diet and a good medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla to tone the stomach and other digestive organs, purify the blood and sustain the nerves. Mr. J. W. Gerry, a well-known business man of Hopkinton, Mass., relates his experience.

"I was troubled with indigestion for many months. My food gave me great distress. Physicians prescribed for me, and although they gave me help for a time, they did not cure. I felt and discouraged and could not sleep at night. My friends advised me to give up business, the doctors declaring that I needed a change. I read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and thought it might do me good. I am glad to say that I felt the benefit right away, after commencing to take the medicine. Three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla entirely cured me of indigestion. It also relieved me of constiveness and I have not had any trouble of this nature since. I have taken several bottles of the medicine in the of the year since my first treatment with Hood's Sarsaparilla and I have thus kept myself in perfect condition. My wife has also taken Hood's Sarsaparilla with equally good results. I am 60 years old and I feel as well as when I was 30 years of age. I cannot say too much in praise of Hood's Sarsaparilla." J. W. GERRY, Cor. Grove and Main Streets, Hopkinton, Mass.

A Genuine Surprise.

The removal of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Hoffman from Winter Hill, Somerville, some months since to Newton Centre, took from the Winter Hill Congregational church a couple who have been greatly missed, especially Mrs. Hoffman, whose work in the sewing circle and other church work was always of a kind to be appreciated, and won for her the regard and esteem of all with whom she came in contact. Desiring to see her in her new home, twenty-three of her old associates paid her a visit on Thursday of this week, giving this worthy lady a genuine old time surprise, as with their baskets and bundles they came in upon her. It was a delightful occasion, charmingly planned and carried out, and was greatly to the credit of all interested. Mrs. Hoffman very soon had her numerous guests at their ease, their wraps and budgets cared for, and then a season was devoted to pleasant chat and congratulations, followed later on with a substantial spread, while all did ample justice, a committee of the guests assisting the hostess in her labors of love. Short speeches were made by a number of ladies, when the duties of the table were brought to a close, and a poem contributed by Mr. J. M. Thompson of Winter Hill was also read, which was well received. The poem "Our Beulah Land," suggestive of the old and new, is given below. The event was one of those to be remembered and will become a green spot in the lives of all who participated in it. About half past three o'clock were spoken, and the ladies prepared for their homeward trip, and in a short time they were again on the road to Winter Hill, which was reached at an early hour, the home trip proving equally as enjoyable as the outward one.

BEULAH LAND.

Our Beulah Land is lovely,
And so are Newton's fields.
One satisfies our longings,
The other, pleasure yields.
And so, the heart when lonely
Turns to the friends of old,
And in their love, finds pleasure,
And happiness untold.

This, then to you our greeting,
As o'er your threshold here,
We come as one in feeling,
To give you wholesome cheer.
Such as shall brighten, gladden,
Your heart with that sweet peace,
Which for a time shall give you,
From all your cares, release.

You have not been forgotten,
For in our gatherings
Your presence has been wanting,
While thoughts, as if on wings
Have outward gone unto you,
That in this new made home,
The Father's gracious blessing,
Might daily to you come.

We know that you have missed us,
And longed us each to see,
Have felt it would be pleasant,
With us again to be,
So acting on the impulse
Of what we knew would please,
We have dropped in upon you,
Your longing to appease.

Right well we knew the welcome
That would extend to us,
How bright the eye would glisten,
While warm and cheerily,
Would come the old time greeting
As taking each by hand,
Again there would be glimpses
To you of Beulah Land.

HER FIRST REHEARSAL.

Mary Anderson de Navarro Tells of the Preliminaries of Her Stage Debut.

In writing of her first appearance on the stage Mary Anderson de Navarro tells in The Ladies' Home Journal that the opportunity to play was presented her by Manager McCauley at his Louisville theater. The star who was playing at the theater had failed to attract paying houses, and Dr. Griffin, who was Mrs. de Navarro's stepfather and her business manager, suggested to Mr. McCauley that she be given a chance to play. The offer was gladly accepted, and Mrs. de Navarro writes that there was only one rehearsal, and it was called for the next morning. "On my way to the cathedral," she adds, "I was enchanted to see posters on the fences making the announcement. The main part of the poster was devoted to advertising Milnes Levick in 'The Spy,' and at the bottom in smaller type the show bill read:

"Saturday Evening, Nov. 27, 1875.—Miss Mary Anderson, a young lady of this city, will make her first appearance on any stage as Juliet, in Shakespeare's 'Romeo and Juliet.' Milnes Levick as Mercutio, and a powerful cast of characters."

"As I was in the quiet church the hour for rehearsal struck, and I started for the theater in a radiant frame of mind. Passing with my people through the darkened house and private boxes covered with their linen dusters, I found myself for the first time upon the stage. How strange and dreamlike it seemed, that empty theater, lighted only here and there by the faint glimmer of the gray day without, bereft of all the eager faces it had always been peopled with!

And the stage! How dismal it was with the noisy patter of the rain on its tin roof, a small gas jet burning in the center, throwing a dingy light on the men and women (they did not relish the extra rehearsal), gloomily standing in the wings. On seeing me, all looked surprised. Some made remarks in whispers, which I felt to be unkind; others laughed audibly. Scarcely 16, my hair in a long braid, my frock reaching to my boot tops, tall, shy and awkward, I may have given them cause for merriment, but it was as cruel, I thought, as under bred, to make no effort to conceal their mirth at my expense. However, their rudeness was salutary in its effect, putting me on my mettle before the work began."

What a person praises is perhaps a snarer standard even than what he condemns of his character, information and abilities. No wonder, then, that most people are so shy of praising anything.

THE CITY GOVERNMENT.

ISSUE OF $300,000 BONDS—APPOINTMENT OF THREE RESERVE POLICEMEN—CLARKIN SCHOOL APPROPRIATION CUT DOWN—MINOR HEARINGS GRANTED.

A special meeting of the board of aldermen was held Monday evening and several important matters received consideration. Mayor Cobb presided and the seven members were present.

The following hearings were opened and as no one appeared on either side were ordered closed:

Hearing for the laying of a concrete sidewalk on Bellevue street from Centre to Summit street; for taking of land for sewer on Charlesbank road; for taking of land for sewer on Remick terrace; for taking of land for sewer on Hobart road; for taking of land for sewer on Monadnock road; for taking of land for sewer on Wachusett road; for taking of land for sewer on Montvale Crescent; for taking of land on private grounds on Beacon street.

Alderman Degen said that the owners had received no notice of the hearing and had heard that it might come up.

Alderman Noyes said in explanation that the land had been selected to meet the approval of the trustees and superintendent of the cemetery corporation.

The little misunderstanding was cleared up by the mayor who explained that the land owners were trustees of the cemetery corporation and not the ones referred to by Alderman Degen.

On motion of Alderman Downs the reading of the records of the last meeting were dispensed with.

There were no papers from the common council and the report of the committee on ordinances was heard. It recommended the enrolment of the order, providing for a reserve police force.

The report of the committee charged with the perambulation of the Boston boundary was received and accepted.

The report of the city engineer on sewer schedules was received and placed on file. It provided for the construction of sewers on Bridge and Chestnut streets.

An order for the taking of land on the above named streets was adopted.

An order granting the telephone company a location on Washington, Park and Tremont streets was adopted.

An order for the laying out and acceptance of Gay street was passed.

A communication was received from the board of health that the sum of $2500 be appropriated to drain several ponds of stagnant water near Grove street, Auburndale.

On recommendation of the sewer committee it was ordered to grant a hearing for Tuesday next on the taking of land for sewers on the following streets: On private land off Beacon street, Alden court and Woodbine terrace, off Woodbine street.

Orders were presented and passed for the taking of land for sewers on Montvale, Crescent, Wachusett road, Hobart road, Charlesbank road, Remick terrace, Monadnock road, Walnut street, Lawrence road and Wellman road.

Alderman Degen presented an order for the issue of $100,000 of 20 year 4 per cent. Commonwealth water construction bonds.

Alderman Noyes asked if this work was soon to be completed.

Alderman Degen said it was not entirely completed, that $35,000 had already been expended and the sum asked for was merely to reimburse the treasury and to continue the work with the balance, which would very near complete it. The order was passed.

Orders for the issue of $70,000 worth of 40 year 4 per cent. sewer bonds and $70,000 worth of 40 year water construction bonds were passed.

Alderman Degen presented an order for the issue of $50,000 Washington street widening bonds.

The question then was asked by Alderman Noyes "what amount has been issued already?"

No definite answer could be given and in explanation, Alderman Degen said all claims had not been settled yet, but would probably be decided during the summer. The cost would come within the amount.

The order was passed.

The public property committee reported in favor of appropriating $10,500 for the enlargement of engine 3's house at Newton Centre. The report was adopted.

Alderman Tolman presented an order for the appropriation of the sum. He showed the urgent demand for this enlargement and called upon Chief Banlett for further explanation.

The chief said that the plan was not a new one, it had been talked of for 10 years. It would give additional stable room and an opportunity to enlarge the fire alarm telegraph circuit which could not be done under the present condition. At present it is necessary to stand three horses on the floor. It was essential that there should be more room for the office instruments, horses, stock and teams. The instruments were very crude; the same as they were over twenty years ago, and were at present totally inadequate. The danger was very great as the circuit was one of the largest in the city, including Auburndale, Newtonville and West Newton, and if trouble occurred in any part it would throw out the working of the entire circuit and the damage could be repaired. In order to complete the new system $3000 would have to be expended; the sum at present asked would provide room for the enlargement.

Alderman Tolman said that the cost was not as large as the appropriation asked for, but the balance would provide for any incidental expenses.

Alderman White said the fire committee had investigated the condition of the house and heartily approved of the plan.

Chief Banlett said that accidents had happened which threw the circuit out at an average of three or four a year and were of three or four hours duration. Luckily no fire had occurred which would cause any trouble. Most cities when the system was enlarged had made changes but in this case none had been made.

Mayor Cobb approved of the appropriation of the sum.

Alderman Noyes was not quite prepared to vote and desired time for consideration. He asked that it be delayed a week.

Alderman Tolman favored immediate consideration.

Alderman Greene said he had personally looked into the matter and found the condition considerably different than he had expected.

The committee made the following nominations: Daniel J. Lord, president of the Manufacturers' National Bank, Boston; Henry J. Hosmer, treasurer of the Middlesex Institution for Savings, Concord; J. Koshland, wool merchant, Boston; Henry L. Fisher of the Waltham Savings Bank, and George F. Putnam of the National Bank of North America, Boston.

This list was adopted, and after a few words from several individuals, suggesting to the committee that the affairs of the company be probed to the bottom, it was voted that the expenses be borne by the estate, and the meeting adjourned, subject to the call of the committee.

TEACHERS' GUILD.

ENTERTAINMENT GIVEN FOR ITS BENEFIT BY THE SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Much pleasure and profit accrued to the Newton branch of the Teachers' Amity Guild through the second entertainment given last Saturday by the school children.

The idea of providing an entertainment of those whose instructors were to reap the benefits, was an excellent one, calling forth as it did a liberal patronage of parents and friends.

Supt. Aldrich, previous to the first number, gave a brief history of the guild and told of its purpose. It was organized, he said, in 1893 and included cities and towns in Middlesex, Essex, Norfolk, Suffolk and Plymouth counties. Its object was to provide for teachers who had been in the service over thirty-five years or had become incapacitated before that time. It was to provide a suitable income. Among the cities and towns included in the guild were Cambridge, Haverhill, Lowell, Lawrence, Brookline and Lynn. The assessment required was a certain per cent. of the salary. The superintendent gave a brief summary of the cities that had subscribed to the fund. Lowell had given $3000 and Newton $242.

After the scholars had taken their seats at the right of the platform the opening number "The Country" was sung. This was followed by scholars of the Lincoln primary school, whose evolutions in the free standing exercises called forth considerable applause, as did the scarf drill of the Underwood primary school which followed.

The Swedish gymnastics and fancy march of the Hyde school and the wand exercises of the Mason school were among the best numbers in the program. The very pretty fan drill proved of course the most popular and the children caused considerable laughter when they fanned themselves heartily, a part of the exercise, apparently trying to out-do the audience.

Exercise songs by the Barnard school children preceded the Swedish gymnastics of the boys of the Clavin school. This was an especially well executed number, winning as it did merited applause. The light gymnastics and flag march of the Wade school may be said to have been especially fine, closing with an effective singing of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The hoop drill by the Rice school and free hand exercises and march of the Mason school received their share of applause merited by their excellent work. The last three numbers, Swedish gymnastics and garland drill by the Barnard school, minuet by the Williams school and tambourine drill by the Adams school proved themselves the leading features of the entertainment as such by the audience.

The excellent drilling by the pupils reflected great credit on their instructors, and considerable praise is due to the several accompanists whose untiring efforts helped to make the entertainment the success it was.

If it required an annual outlay of $100.00 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of the family for such an amount. Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents, that being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre.

These included George F. Hall, treasurer of the company, $34,056; and the Lady Grey Perfumery Company, $20,000. Mr. J. Dewey wanted to know how it happened that these large amounts were contributed by the managers of the company, and made use of the words "shortage" and "embezzlement" in speaking in regard to it.

He could not see why the officers had allowed matters to go on in this way, and under these circumstances he was emphatically opposed to having the president of the company continue as one of the assignees.

He further pointed out that the debts of the company are more than the capital stock, and that the directors are therefore responsible for said debts under the law. That he regarded as another reason why President Remick should not be continued as an assignee.

As soon as Mr. Dewey took his seat B. B. T. Tower secured recognition, and explained that the account due the company from Treasurer Hall was by authority of a vote of the directors permitting him to draw on the treasury up to a certain limit in consideration of his indorsement of the paper of the company. Mr. Tower was asked if the same was true in regard to Mr. Saxton, but declined to say anything about his case on the ground that he was not appearing for him.

Mr. Storey thought under the circumstances that the creditors ought to proceed cautiously. He did not see how the assignees could be changed at the present meeting, and advised that a committee be appointed to make an investigation and report.

Mr. Appleton finally made the motion for a committee of three to present to the creditors a list of five names to constitute an investigating committee, and it was carried unanimously.

The chair appointed as such nominating committee Daniel Dewey of Boston, Mr. Gale, representing banks in Haverhill, and Samuel Hoar, attorney.

The committee made the following nominations: Daniel J. Lord, president of the Manufacturers' National Bank, Boston; Henry J. Hosmer, treasurer of the Middlesex Institution for Savings, Concord; J. Koshland, wool merchant, Boston; Henry L. Fisher of the Waltham Savings Bank, and George F. Putnam of the National Bank of North America, Boston.

This list was adopted, and after a few words from several individuals, suggesting to the committee that the affairs of the company be probed to the bottom, it was voted that the expenses be borne by the estate, and the meeting adjourned, subject to the call of the committee.

NONANTUM WORSTED CO.

A COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO INVESTIGATE THE FAILURE—SOME INTERESTING REVELATIONS.

The meeting of the creditors of the Nonantum Worsted Company last Saturday, was a rather breezy affair. The attorney for the company stated the reasons for making President Remick one of the assignees.

Moorfield Storey, attorney for the assignees, presented the financial statement, which they had had prepared for the creditors, from which it appeared that the liabilities other than to stockholders consist of notes payable, $861,000, and accounts payable, $158,151, a total of $1,019,151.

The assets consist of bills payable, called good, amounting to $156,943; cash, $14,227; stock in process, $591,435, a total of $762,606 exclusive of the plant—which cost about $1,250,000, and which is carried at $672,242—and of bad debts amounting to $106,000.

Immediately upon the presentation of this statement several were on their feet, and one of the first to be heard was Daniel Dewey, of Dewey & Gould, wool merchants, Atlantic avenue, who said that he had obtained from the assignees a list of the names which appeared in the list of those who owe the bad debts alleged to be then proceeded to read it.

These included George F. Hall, treasurer of the company, $34,056; and the Lady Grey Perfumery Company, $20,000. Mr. J. Dewey wanted to know how it happened that these large amounts were contributed by the managers of the company, and made use of the words "shortage" and "embezzlement" in speaking in regard to it.

He could not see why the officers had allowed matters to go on in this way, and under these circumstances he was emphatically opposed to having the president of the company continue as one of the assignees.

SAFE BLOWER SENTENCED.

MUST LIVE IN STATE PRISON FOR AT LEAST THE NEXT 10 YEARS.

Judge Richardson, in the Middlesex Superior criminal court at East Cambridge last Monday, sentenced Myron J. Doloff to the state prison for a term not exceeding 15 nor less than 10 years.

Doloff was indicted with Irving A. Adams for blowing open the safe of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in Newton, on Feb. 7 last, and taking $1300, of which $775 was in cash.

Adams and Doloff were brought into court Monday, and both, after consultation with their attorneys, withdrew their former plea of not guilty and stated that they were guilty as charged.

Counsel for Doloff stated that during the eight years that had elapsed since Doloff's discharge from the state prison, where he had lived an upright and honest life, and the fact that he had once before been in prison should not be counted against him.

The court said it was a very serious offense to blow open a safe with dynamite in the night time, and then imposed the above sentence.

The case against young Adams will be taken up next Monday.

Young Men's Metropolitan Republican Club.

The young men's Metropolitan Republican Club of Boston called a special meeting last Monday evening at the Parker House, to make arrangements for the dinner which is to be given at the Hotel Brunswick to the Massachusetts delegates to the St. Louis convention.

Account of the absence of Curtis Guild, Jr., the president of the club, Vice-President H. H. Armington was in the chair.

Among the speakers were Chas. H. Adams of Melrose, Councilman Ayres, Thorndike Spalding and R. G. Surbridge of Cambridge, G. P. Farley and Mr. W. De Haven Jones.

The club now numbers about 500 to 600 members, and promises to become one of the strongest and leading political clubs in this country.

All young Republicans of the metropolitan district are cordially invited to join the club.

The banquet which was to have taken place June 25th, has been postponed on account of the illness of President Guild who is to be toast-master of the occasion.

The Bell Ringing Nuptials.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC—

I observe that our city council has made the customary provision for the ringing of bells on the Fourth of July. Is it not time that this induction should cease? The display of bunting and fire works on this anniversary is natural and pleasing. Even crackers must be tolerated for the amusement of the children. But why should full grown men provide for a noise which is an annoyance to the well, a positive torture to the sick and nervous? The writer is not wanting in patriotism, but he finds the racket of Independence Day a great trial. At the least of its evils is this prolonged ringing of bells. It answers no good purpose, and should be relegated to more barbarous localities than the city of Newton. Let us pray the authorities to emancipate us.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES.

THE CLASS OF '96 RECEIVE THEIR DIPLOMAS.

Tuesday was perfect as to weather and the friends of the graduating class filled the High School Gymnasium to overflowing, the summer hats of the ladies making the plain interior look like a regular flower-garden. The class of '96 has more than the usual number of sweet girl graduates, but evidently the minority of boys was not a hopeless one, and the exercises were unusually interesting.

The teachers, members of the school board and distinguished guests, occupied seats on the platform, which was placed this year on the side of the building opposite the entrance, instead of at one end, a great improvement, as it enabled the greater part of the large audience to hear without any exertion.

As usual with the Newton High school, the essays and orations were remarkable for their literary excellence, and the time spent in the study of English has evidently been carefully improved.

Soon after ten members of the graduating class marched in from the school building, and after prayer by the Rev. Dr. W. E. Huntington, dean of Boston University, and a selection by the High School orchestra, the formal exercises began with the salutatory by Miss Vivian May Morris, who gave a graceful welcome to the friends of the school.

Mr. Waldo Gifford Leland gave a brilliant essay on the Homeric Simile, the beauty, force and color it gave to the Iliad, and his delivery was especially good.

Miss Elizabeth Wellington Hunt had "Tennyson's Princess, a Contribution to Woman's Cause" as her theme, and took rather advanced ground on the subject, claiming that Tennyson was the prophet, not exactly of the New Woman, but of the greater sphere that has opened to woman since he wrote.

Charles Tilton Leeds told about the Crisis in Turkey, the sufferings of the Armenians, not only in this but in former ages, having been freed from one despot only to be ground down by another, and their generally hopeless condition unless the nations of Europe come to their aid. It was a very clear presentation of the Armenian question, and showed a good deal of research and study.

Miss Mary Florence Griffin read an essay upon the Sun, as The Great Source of Energy, displaying much scientific knowledge. The class oration was by Edmund Daniel Daly, an eloquent young orator. His theme was duty and he made a very favorable impression upon the audience, and seemed to be a great favorite with his classmates, judging from the prolonged applause they gave him.

Miss Marion Drew Bassett gave a sketch of England's Poet Laureates, reviewing briefly the claims of each one of the poets, and their influence upon literature, the essay being full of interest.

The Class History was a very bright and well-written paper, by Miss Edith Sarah Mason, who touched off the salient points in their school life in such a witty way that even the audience joined in the laughter, and she closed with a fitting recognition of the work of the teachers and a few witty words of advice to the class.

The diplomas were presented by His Honor, Mayor Cobb, who make a short address, telling them that the real work of their lives, and that harder problems and more arduous study awaited them than any they had found in their school lives, and urged upon them the importance of being true to the best that was in them.

Following is the program of exercises in detail:

A Dreadful Supposition.

(Boston Cor. Springfield Republican.)

Suppose that the conviction should seize the country that the Republican nomination was dictated by a few capitalists who want a plant tool in the presidential chair, and to tax the country for their particular benefit, who want to keep the entire West and South tributary to Wall Street and State street, that the phenomenal control of the St. Louis convention by Mark Hanna was only a consequence of the real domination of the Republican party and of the prospective Republican Congress and the Republican president by this element, it is easy to see that this queer campaign might have still queerer consequences. Yet talk in this line is even heard now.

Now is the time to provide yourself and family with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a safeguard against an attack of bowel complaint during the summer months. It costs but 25 cents and is almost sure to be needed before the summer is over. This remedy never fails, even in the most severe cases, and is in fact the only preparation that can always be depended upon. When reduced with water it is pleasant to take. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre.

—Since bathing has been prohibited on the river banks, there has been considerable talk of petitioning the city government to erect a bath house near the bridge. There is no doubt that it would be greatly appreciated, judging from the amount of those who speak in favor of it.

THE SILVER CRAZE.

It is surprising to find to what an extent the silver delusion is favored, not only in the western states, but right here in Massachusetts, and not only among Democrats but among Republicans of high standing in the party councils. Congressman Draper represents a large class of manufacturers, when he says that if the tariff is only made high enough, he does not care if the currency is silver or copper or lead, or words to that effect. Any observing person, who meets many people, will be surprised at the pro-silver sentiments he hears.

There is no doubt that the country is in great danger of coming to a silver basis, and the adoption of the gold plank in the St. Louis platform will not entirely remove that danger even if the Republican should win. Mr. Hanna's views are well known, and he thinks that the tariff is the only important issue and will probably have no inconvenient scruples about compromises. The Senate, with its great number of silver senators, will never allow a tariff bill to pass, without receiving what they call "protection for silver," and judging from the utterances of the high tariff men, they will only be too willing to meet the friends of silver more than half way. A platform utterance is good as far as it goes, but it goes a very little way with politicians, and it is only wise to look the situation squarely in the face. Mr. McKinley has never given any study to financial questions, as is evident enough from his confused and conflicting utterances upon the subject, and he has never displayed any great amount of independence. Both he and Mr. Hanna even now claim that the tariff is the only issue, and there is every reason to fear that he would sign any tariff bill that came to him, no matter what pro-silver legislation might be tacked on to it.

From the present outlook, the Democrats will also put up a free-silver candidate, although he may be one who is openly in favor of silver legislation, so that there is little to hope for from that side.

The only encouraging prospect is the possibility that the house and the senate will get into such a quarrel over the question, and that the silver men will demand such preposterous concessions, that nothing can be done for two or three years, by which time it may be hoped that the silver delusion may have passed away, just as the greenback craze did.

The duty of Eastern Republicans, who believe in sound currency, is clear enough not to be mistaken. They were not able to secure the nomination of a thoroughly sound candidate for the presidency, but they can see to it that the Congressmen elected from their districts shall be men who have intelligent ideas on the financial question, and are pledged to work for the gold standard, and to make no concessions. In this way, they would do something to avert the danger that now threatens this country.

In this district Congressman Draper is fortunately to retire, and his successor ought to have sounder views on the currency. Every one knows where Hon. J. R. Leeson would stand on such a question, but the friends of Mr. Sprague have probably prevented Newton sending a united delegation for him. But does any one know what Mr. Sprague's views are? He seems to have friends all through the district, who are shamelessly working for him, but so far he has made no statement of his views, and he would, even if his views were sound, not have a title of the influence that Mr. Leeson would have in Congress.

"DOC" SMITH, the one man in the Massachusetts delegation who voted for McKinley, was the hero of the hour at the Worcester ratification meeting, and his speech denouncing the attempt to run the politics of the state by the "little band of cigarette-smoking millionaires" headed by Senator Lodge, Mr. Draper and Mr. Guild, was received with tumultuous applause. The heart of the Commonwealth does not beat for boss rule, unless it can furnish the boss itself. Mr. Smith had some very amusing experiences to tell of the events of the trip, especially of the attempt to boom Curtis Guild for senator, and the discovery that he was not known to the crowd "as far west as North Adams," also of the work of the delegates for the gold plank, only to find when they got their Boston papers, that Mr. Lodge, who had been doing nothing, had been given all the credit, and had done it all, according to the story furnished the reporters by himself. Mr. Smith seems to be unnecessarily pugnacious, and he warned his hearers that their chains were being forged "on the plains of Boston" and urged them to "throw down" any man named or supported by "the little band of social cigarette-smoking millionaires," who meet and name our candidates six months ahead of time. If this rebellion should spread, the coming campaign will not be as dull as has been anticipated.

The city council recommended that the school board should exercise a little judicious economy, and they retort with an order for closing the kindergartens. This is like the case of a man who has a very expensive and extravagant family, and to his request that they practice a little more economy, so that he can make both ends meet, they respond by deciding to abolish breakfast, as the only saving they can think of. They indignantly refute the suggestion that it would be better to cut off some of the luxuries of the dinner, and they hope by proposing to abolish breakfast, to make economy so unpopular that it will never be mentioned again. Are our school board acting on the same principle, or are they reasonable and conscientious men, who have gone over the whole question thoroughly, and can really find no other means of saving money? Outsiders have thought that there were a great many expenses in the High school which could be trimmed off without impairing in any way the excellence of the preparation for college, or the value of the training to those who leave school at the end of their course. Other High schools with the same number of pupils get along with a good deal less money, and stand very high too, and perhaps if the school board should appoint a committee to seriously consider the problem, they might find some other way of reducing expenses than the cheap and easy one recommended.

Nothing could surpass the beauty of Newton at this season, if one keeps away from the railroad tracks. The rains have freshened up the lawns, the foliage is at its best, and even in the hot days of the past week, Newton was no more uncomfortable than most of the shore resorts. If it was not for the need of a change that moderns think they feel, it would be folly to go away for the summer. With the numerous golf and tennis clubs, to say nothing of bicycling on our "sand-papered" roads, few summer resorts can offer half the attractions that Newton does, besides the comfort of living in the midst of the modern conveniences, and having a five cent fare to Boston over the new electric line.

The Railroad Commissioners have a hearing next Monday evening to the Nonantum people who desire to have the Newtonville and Watertown Street Railway extended from Watertown square down past the arsenal to Brighton and Allston, which would give them an easy communication with Boston. Nonantum people are far away from any through street car or steam railroad lines, and they are said to be very much interested in this extension. It would certainly be a great convenience, and there seems to be no good reason why this location should not be granted.

The County Commissioners have voted to order Mr. Auburn street to be widened, and the order will come up at the Watertown town meeting next Monday evening. The widening will permit the West End to lay double tracks, and this will mean a five cent fare by that route to Boston. It will be interesting to see what the town meeting will do, as some of the critics contend that the town has reached its debt limit and cannot afford any improvements.

Both branches of the City Council will meet next Monday and also on Tuesday evenings, for the purpose of winding up city business for the summer. They hope to adjourn until September, it is said, but they will be more fortunate than previous city councils if they are not called together several times, before their vacation is over.

IMPROVEMENTS cost, as the vote of the aldermen to issue $300,000 in boulevard, sewer, water construction, and the Washington street widening bonds will prove. Nevertheless, a city that is growing as rapidly as Newton is, can afford to have costly improvements. In fact, its growth depends on these improvements.

The school board passed some orders looking towards economy in school expenditures, but some claim they chose reductions that would be certain to be unpopular, instead of those which would not be noticed by the general public.

BUD BIERER in the Boston Globe says "lavish Newton retrenching her school appropriations is, indeed, sufficient to make the world stare."

THAT reserve police force order has finally been passed and three of the men appointed, as will be seen by the city government report.

Logical Extension of Protection.

(Boston Herald.)

It seems not unlikely, from the statements made at the meeting of the creditors of the Nonantum Worst Company, which was held a few days ago, that the committee that was appointed at the time to investigate the affairs of that corporation, will make a report which will show that the present unfortunate condition of the company is due to causes other than the general condition of business. There is, in this case, a justification in taking up the private affairs of a manufacturing company for this form of public dissection and comment, for the reason that the treasurer and general manager has brought himself prominently forward in times past as the exponent of the theory that if there was a McKinley tariff he could make money for his shareholders, while if there was not a McKinley tariff such profits were quite impossible.

It will be remembered that on past election times the same gentleman has been exceedingly active in instructing those in the company's employ as to the manner in which they should vote, in order, as he alleged, to benefit both him and themselves. It might be assumed—and in certain instances it was, we believe, assumed—when the announcement of the embarrassment of this company was first made, that there was a fair illustration afforded of the terribly disastrous effects of free trade with a reduced rate of duty upon foreign made wool fabrics. But the showing made by Charles F. Washburn, Friday at 3 p. m. Funeral private. (Houlton and Calais, Me., papers please copy.

It is made evident that there has been serious mismanagement, and, apparently, the funds of the corporation have been used for other than legitimate business purposes. Whether what would otherwise have been corporate assets have been used up in personal speculation is something that can be better determined when the investigating committee of creditors has made its examination and report. But it is already obvious that the business, as carried on, could not exist and succeed upon the ordinary conditions of trade. Apparently what the treasurer of the company believed the American people should do, if one can judge by his printed and verbal statements, was to use the money, as was, by taxing themselves to grant a sufficient profit to the company under the mandate of Congress, to enable it to lay up a large enough surplus to pay its shareholders dividends, and at the same time afford a liberal leeway for the indulgence by its officials in outside operations of a not always remunerative character.

We regret that any of our local manufacturing corporations should come to grief; but clearly the people of the United States cannot afford, either through the tariff or any other form of taxation, to pay subsidies and bounties to manufacturers of a sufficient size, not only to make their business profitable, but also to afford them an opportunity to lose money in outside ventures, without personal or corporate loss. We have referred to this subject because from appearances it would seem that it was this extension of the theory of protection which the treasurer of the Nonantum Worst Company was advocating a year or two ago, at the time that his remarks were so warmly applauded by newspaper advocates of this system of favoritism.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS.

—Dr. and Mrs. William Lowe celebrated the 46th anniversary of their marriage, yesterday, and a large company of their friends from Upper Falls, Brockton, New Bedford, Rhode Island and Connecticut, were present to celebrate the event and offer their congratulations to the worthy couple. An orchestra furnished music, and supper was served, the event taking largely the form of a lawn party. The guests wished their host and hostess many happy returns of the day, and it was one of the pleasantest social events that have been held in Upper Falls.

HOW INDIANS MEASURE TIME.

They Fix Their Dates by Sleeps and Moons and Winters.

Our Indians measure time solely by days, by sleeps, by moons and by winters. The Indian has no name for any subdivision of time less than a day. When he desires to indicate a shorter period, he points to the heavens, and measuring off a space says, "It was as long as it would take the sun to go from there to there." A day is from daylight to darkness, "sleep," or night, from dark to daylight. He has no name for any day, nor has he any subdivision of time corresponding to our week. A moon commences with the first streak of the crescent in the west and lasts until the next one appears, but the days of the moon are neither numbered nor named. "From winter to winter" is the nearest approach he has to our term. The year commences with the first fall of snow. An Indian will tell you he is so many winters old, but having no months or days he never has a birthday.

The Indians who formerly inhabited the southern part of Texas, where there is no snowfall, are said to have fixed the commencement of the year at the first "norther," a furious and chilling wind that sweeps from the north and is of frequent occurrence during the winter months. No year has any name or number fixing a sequence or point of reference, but each band will designate a year by its most prominent occurrence, as a fight with hostile, death of a chief, prevalence of disease, abundance or scarcity of food, or failing anything marvelous or striking by the name of the stream on which was located the winter camp. But these are mere remembrances, and excellent as is the Indians memory they, after a few years, fade into a jumble of disconnected facts without sequence or usefulness.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

What She Was Meant For.

A lady of great beauty and attractive-ness, who was an ardent admirer of Ireland, once crowned her praise of it at a party by saying: "I think I was meant for an Irish woman." "Madam," rejoined a witty son of Erin, who happened to be present, "thousands would back me in saying that you were meant for an Irish man."—Strand Magazine.

A CHANCE

For the Public to See X-Ode,

THE NEW DISCOVERY.

On Exhibition at Room 51, 179A
Tremont St., Boston.

Marvelous as has been the advance of science, nothing in the past few years has superseded in interest the discovery of X-Ode. As is well known, this new substance forms on asbestos while being electrically treated in a solution. This asbestos is put in a glass vial in the form of an inhaler. When the cork of the vial is removed and the air comes in contact with the asbestos it emits from the inhaler a soothing gaseous substance which will penetrate any part of the body. When inhaled through the nose or mouth it penetrates every nook and crevice of the mucous surfaces, kills the germ that causes the disease, and gives the tissues a healthy condition. Catarrh, Hay Fever, Asthma, Headache, Coughs and similar diseases yield to its influence with marvellous rapidity. Everyone suffering from any throat or head trouble should procure at least a trial inhaler, which sells at 15 cents. All the reliable druggists in Boston now have X-Ode on hand, and those that do not will procure it for you if you request them to do so.

The X-Ode Co., 19 Union Square, New York City, is the concern that is putting it on the market.

Resolutions adopted on the death of Thomas Riley: Whereas, it has seemed good to the Ruler of the Universe to remove from amongst us our beloved friend and fellow member, Thomas Riley, therefore, in view of the loss we have sustained and the heavier loss occasioned to his respected family, be it

—It takes one's breath away to think of climbing that high bridge that is being erected across the tracks, and the north riders think the reality will be so much worse that they will either run the risk of accidents by going across the tracks as at present, or else they will go away until the depression has become an actual fact. Some think that the B. & A. might have put up some kind of a derick instead, which would have lifted them across with out effort on their part. If it comes to climbing that bridge and losing their train, most people will take the electric cars.

With singing and social intercourse the hours passed very quickly, the interest of the occasion being heightened by the unexpected presence of Rev. Dr. Waugh and wife, and Mrs. Dr. Hoskins, returned missionaries from India. Dr. Waugh in a few words of kindly sympathy, encouraged the ladies in their work of Christian benevolence. He spoke of his great pleasure in meeting Mrs. Twombly, after an absence of nearly 40 years in India, alluding to the fact that Dr. Twombly and herself had helped fit his company out with the necessary comforts for their journey, on their

—The Women's Clubs in our city are exercising a power and influence in our midst felt in many ways. While every club has its own distinctive character, they are in their own mode for social and intellectual culture, they nearly all are interested in some broader way to benefit others. The West Newton Women's Educational Club, the pioneer of Newtonville, for many years supported a scholarship at Tuskegee, Alabama. The Women's Guild at Newtonville is largely interested in our home charities, especially in our hospital. The Newton Centre Women's Club was organized in 1887 and has contributed in that time $2500, $2575 for the Newton Centre play ground, $1625 to the Newton Hospital, $225 to the Country Home, $200 to the Associated Charities, $150 to the Armenian Fund, $100 to the Williston Home and $83.74 for the drinking fountain for children in the play ground. SCHOOL BOARD.

COMMITTEE ON RETRENCHMENT ADVISES THE DROPPING OF KINDERGARTENS AND SEVERAL TEACHERS.

A busy session of the school board was held Wednesday evening, President Hollis presiding.

No papers were received from the city council and on motion of Mr. Howes the board went into executive session. This was to consider the appointment of teachers and lasted about twenty minutes.

No report was received from the superintendent and the report of the finance committee was presented, showing that the department expenses for June were $17,089. The same was accepted and placed on file.

The finance committee having been instructed to consider methods of retrenchment reported through Mr. Howes. The report began with a brief account of the preceding events, saying in part that the city government several weeks ago refused an additional appropriation for the school department on the ground that the schools were being conducted extravagantly. At the last session the committee had been instructed to consider methods of retrenchment and recommended as follows:

That the usual increases in salaries on account of length of service be deferred; that one unassigned teacher be appointed instead of two; that the study of typewriting and stenography be omitted from the high school course; that one teacher each be dropped from the forces at the Hyde, Wade, Chaffin and Adams schools; and that the Adams, Ash street, Rice and Hyde kindergartens be suspended.

Mr. Avery of Ward 2 objected to abandoning these kindergartens, and suggested that it would be wiser to drop some of the special teachers. He moved that Miss Jennie R. Ireson, instructor in physical culture; Horace N. Walton, instructor in music; and Nathaniel L. Berry, instructor in drawing, be dropped.

Mr. Howes was shown in answer to another member that the amount saved would be $1350. Mr. Avery moved that Miss Ireson's services be dispensed with.

Mr. Martin was very sorry to lose the kindergartens but protested against the removal of Miss Ireson.

Mr. Hale said it had been remarked by the city government and said on the street that the kindergarten was an extravagance. He thought the best plan the acceptance of the report.

Favorable remarks followed by Messrs. Huntington and Howes.

The report was accepted and placed on file.

The finance committee reported inexpedient on the petition of the grammar school masters for an increase of salary. The same was received and filed.

The finance committee reported on the petition of J. Richard Carter and others for a more thorough cleaning of school buildings, that all school houses would be thoroughly cleaned during the summer vacation.

An order was adopted appropriating $17,089 to defray department expenses for the month of June.

Orders were adopted granting leave of absence for the school year of '96-'97 to Lizzie E. Jones of the Barnard school, N. Alice Warren of the Davis school and Miss Manson of the Williams school.

A communication was received from John T. Langford and forty-six others, calling attention to the unsanitary condition of the Lincoln school on Thornton street, and asking the immediate erection of a new building.

On motion of Mr. Wing it was referred to the district committee of Ward 1.

An order was adopted requesting the city council to appropriate $5000 to furnish the new pierce school at West Newton.

The city council was requested to complete the upper rooms of the Williams school with proper means of ingress and egress, and to enlarge the Thompsonville school house.

The High school committee was instructed to provide suitable quarters for scholars during the erection of the new High school building.

The list of teachers presented by the district committees was adopted without discussion.

BOAT CLUB CONCERT.

A PLAN FOR FURTHER ATTRACTIONS AT RIVERSIDE.

Saturday night at Riverside, Newton, was a night of innumerable beauties. It was illumination night, and it was rich with all that the name signifies—myriads of colored lights dancing in the summer breeze; hundreds of pretty girls in summer costume, for the most part white; the river densely massed with brilliantly decorated canoes, from each of which came the chatter and laughter of luxurious idleness; the sound of music freighted the perfumed air, while over all a radiant moon beamed down as if trying to outshine the fires of red and blue and green that burned on the river banks and at the prows of canoes here and there in the flotilla.

Such rare nights seldom follow such days as that of Saturday at Riverside. Beginning with the late forenoon the river fairly swarmed with canoes, but though the vast majority of the canoists were solely on pleasure bent, there were a few who visited Riverside with more serious purpose. Among them were Mr. Charles W. Hubbard of Weston, Director Sargent of the Hemenway gymnasium and Park Commissioner de las Casas. Mr. Hubbard owns a considerable stretch of land fronting on the Charles at Riverside, and he proposes to use it for the furtherance of outdoor sports. It is his plan to lay out this land with base ball and foot ball grounds, a running track, tennis courts and a swimming pool, and to provide at the river's edge a bathhouse, where canoes may be accommodated, the whole to be at the disposal of such clubs as may choose to join an organization to be known as the Associated Athletic Clubs, which, by the payment of a nominal rental, may have the privileges of the grounds. Prof. Sargent, in common with a great many other well known physical instructors and educators, indorses the plan. But it is proposed to carry the idea further, and to have this recreative reservation embraced in the metropolitan park system, and it was for this purpose that Mr. de las Casas was conducted to the place to look it over.

With the cool of approaching evening the crowd on the river was augmented with the arrival of every train, and people continued to come long after the sun went down.

Just before dark the Waltham band stationed itself on the upper piazza of the Newton Boat Clubhouse, for it was the night of the club's June concert, as well as illumination night.

As soon as darkness fell, the gay lanterns which outlined the path from the street to the clubhouse, and spanned it with several arches, that were strung across the front of the clubhouse and around it, and from the ground to the top of the flag staff, were lighted. The several public bathhouses were also illuminated, and the little foot bridge across the river was a bridge of light.

Every canoe belonging to club members was in the water, many of them gorgeous with lanterns swinging from the tops of Japanese umbrella ribs and from wire stretched between poles set up at bow and stern. In a solid mass they gathered in front of the clubhouse, and the men and women in them listened to and applauded the music of the band and watched the display of fireworks among the trees on the opposite bank.

Some there were who could not secure canoes, and they contented themselves with dancing in the club hall and on the piazzas.

It was midnight before the last lantern was extinguished and Capt. Harry Burrage and Secretary Britton departed with the pleasant consciousness that their efforts and the weather had made the occasion gloriously successful.

Mr. James Perdue, an old soldier residing in Monroe, Mich., was severely afflicted with rheumatism but received prompt relief from pain by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "At times my back would ache so badly that I could hardly raise up. If I had not gotten relief I would not be here to write these few lines. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done me a great deal of good and I feel very thankful for it. For sale by L. Hudson, Newton, B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES.

THE REDS OF THE MIDL.

Books have been printed without number illustrating the French Revolution from the standpoint of the higher classes, but this tale by Felix Gras, has to do with the stirring events of those days of terror, from the standpoint of the common people. The causes that led to their revolt, the long years of cruelty, and the dawning perception in the minds of the peasants that they were men, the same as their masters, these are all touched upon, though the story has mainly to do with the march of the famous body of peasants from the South of France, all inspired with the desire to deliver their country from its galling yoke, and who were themselves horrified at the bloody days that followed their advent in Paris. The story is brilliantly told, and both the style and the subject fascinate the reader. A love story is woven in with the historic details of the march, and the book is well worth a careful reading. It has been carefully translated by Catherine A. Janvier, and has an introduction explaining the importance of the events treated of by Thomas A. Janvier. D. Appleton & Co. have given it a very handsome binding, and the finest of type and paper. Price $1.50.

MAGGIE.

The author of "The Red Badge of Courage," probably had no difficulty in finding a publisher for his second book, but Mr. Crane has changed his scene from the battle field of the civil war to the hardly less hellish region of the East side tenements in New York city, where fights seem to occur daily, if not hourly. He is said to have gone to that squalid region to live, so as to become saturated with local color, and it might almost be said that he writes the Chimmie Fadden story as he lives it. But the thoughtful reader will be apt to ask whether this realistic picture of crime and dirt and misery was worth doing at all. It is realism, of course, of the grimiest modern kind, from the drunken mother to the flashy bartender, but it is unrelieved by the humor that made Chimmie Fadden attractive. Those who are curious to know how such people live and what the latest East side slang will find all the details here, and the description has a certain charm, but after all what is the good of such books? D. Appleton & Co. have given it a very handsome binding, and the larger type and wide margin stretch the book out to the requisite number of pages. Price 75 cents.

Summer Novels.

The summer novel has come to be one of the necessary adjuncts to a well-ordered vacation, something to take up on rainy days, or when it is too warm for exertion, and interesting enough to make the hours pass swiftly.

D. Appleton & Co. in their Town & Country Library present an array of the best fiction, and in choosing from these the summer reader is sure to be well entertained.

"The latest issue is Justin McCarthy's 'The Riddle King,' an absorbing story, that takes the reader both to Paris and London, with a well-defined plot and all the other accessories that this writer is so skillful in arranging. The characters are interesting and the story well told, and the tale ends happily, as summer novels should, after a most exciting climax, in which the villain of the story is disposed of."

"The Chronicles of Martin Hewitt" comprise six clever detective stories, in which this successor of Sherlock Holmes unravels the most complicated crimes, and generally to the complete surprise of the reader, although the denouement is natural enough.

Other attractive stories in the series are "Miss Dorothy Marvin," by J. S. Smith; "A Flash of Summer," by Mrs. W. K. Clifford; "In the Days of Adversity," by John Blount-Burton; "Successors to the Title," by Mrs. L. B. Walford, and "The Lost Stalivarius," a weird story by J. M. Falkner.

Never Felt so Well.

Sudbury, Mass., June 14, 1896. I have been taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for the last six months, and it has done me a great deal of good. I feel as if I had a new lease on life. When taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, my husband and children have also taken it with good results, and my husband will take no other preparation." Mrs. John Tracy.

A Parisian in America.

M. de Soissons, the art critic, who has taken up his residence in Newton, has just issued his latest book, under the above title. It is published by Estes & Lauriat and gives a foreigner's impression of American character and American institutions.

There are chapters on the American woman, the American man, the almighty dollar, on art and literature, and on numerous other topics in which our nation is more or less vitally concerned.

In his dedication, in fact, he gallantly intrusts the fortunes of his book to "her majesty, the American Woman, as he has an exalted opinion of her good taste and exquisite refinement." In his first chapter he is hardly less chivalrous.

"The American woman is not beautiful from a sculptural point of view. If a painter had a magical palette, which would make her beautiful, he would find in her the beginnings of all beauties, she is neither from the North nor from the South, she blends the paleness of the snow with the olive of the sun. She has the composite grace of the American eye, the German romanticism, the English gluttony, the Italian petulance, Italian brio; she is all that, to say, in enchantment, surprise, mystery, coquetry, abandon; she has all the virtues of woman, but perhaps she is also a cleverly disguised snare."

"The insatiable dream of fortune occupies her soul, and her ambition takes her, from the beginning of life, the power to love."

The author's appreciation of art in America extends rather to individuals than to the public at large; still its development within the last twenty years has been phenomenal and its prospects are asuring. As for architecture, he knows of only two churches in America worthy of strong admiration—Trinity church and St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York.

The following possesses some local interest: "When the city of Boston decided to have a new library, and a certain set of talented people urged the acceptance of the plan, a building which has been erected, there was an everyday contest in the papers by so-called critics, who tried by every means and all possible arguments to prove that this tasteful and highly artistic building would be a failure. If this building had been made of red brick, and ornamented with terra-cotta work like the Fine Arts Museum, which looks like a piece of gingerbread, and if it had a tower—a very high tower—of two towers, like Carnegie's Library in Pittsburgh, it would satisfy the public taste."

Literature and music are commented on, and the book is written in a very entertaining style, with abundant marks of the author's nationality.

Mothers will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy especially valuable for croup and whooping cough. It will give prompt relief and is safe and pleasant. We have sold it for several years and it has never failed to give the most perfect satisfaction. G. W. Richards, Duquesne, Pa. Sold by A. Hudson, Newton; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; E. F. ANNA IVOR'S REQUEST.

Personal letters reach Mrs. Pinkham by thousands; some asking advice, and others, like the following, telling of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done and will ever continue to do in eradicating those fearful female complaints so little understood by physicians.

All womb and ovarian troubles, irregularities, whites, bearing-down pains, displacements, tendency to cancer and tumor are cured permanently.

"I feel as if I owed my life to your Vegetable Compound. After the birth of my babe I was very miserable. I had a drawing pain in the lower part of my bowels, no strength, and a terrible backache. Every day I failed. My husband said if I would try a bottle of your Vegetable Compound, he would get it for me. The change was wonderful. After I had taken the first half bottle I began to have great faith in it. When I had taken three bottles, I was well and growing stout. It is a pleasure for me to write this to you. I only ask women in any way afflicted with female troubles to try it."—Mrs. ANNA IVOR, Pittsford Mills, Rutland Co., Vt.

—The Bemis mills have suspended operations for the present.
—The Mack estate on Adams street is undergoing a number of changes and is quite improved.
—Mr. George Hudson is recovering from his recent illness and is able again to attend to his business duties.
—Friday Officer Davis removed to Tewks-bury Patrick McKeown who was suffering with a severe attack of St. Vitus dance.
—Mr. H. W. Orr of Newtonville had his bicycle stolen last Saturday which he had left at the corner of Turner and Walnut streets.
—Hose Company 8 was called out on a still alarm Monday afternoon to extinguish a swamp fire on Adams street. It was a stubborn little blaze and was some hours before it was extinguished.
—Christopher O'Brien of West street reported to the police Sunday that his house had been entered Saturday night and $10 in cash stolen. The house was thoroughly ransacked but nothing else taken.
—John Kelly, five years old, wandered away from his home in this place last Saturday and was reported as missing to the police. Later in the evening he was found and taken home by Officer Costello.
—Last Sunday afternoon the meeting of the Euclid Baptist Mission was held on the lawn in front of Mr. George Hudson's residence. It was attended by a large number who listened with interest to the words of the speaker, Mr. John A. Allen.
—Mr. Patrick Murphy of the firm of Murphy & Sullivan, plumbers of Newton Centre, died at his home Saturday. He had recently returned from the South where he has been to benefit his health.
He was 26 years of age and a young man of considerable ability. The funeral was held Tuesday morning from the Church of Our Lady.
—The hours of opening the bath house have been again changed without an apparent satisfactory result. It is now open from 7 to 10 in the evening, but a large portion of the residents claim that those who enjoy this privilege do not leave their work in time and are desirous to have it opened until 9 p. m. The hour of closing at present is rather early and it would be a good plan to keep it opened the desired length for one or two evenings a week at least. The gravel bottom under the bath house is said to be in a condition that would be benefited by a cleaning.

The hours at present are 9 to 11 a. m. and 1 to 3 and 6 to 7.30 p. m.

—Timothy O'Leary, a well known resident of this place, has been quite ill for the past three weeks.
—The exodus of families who depended on the mill for a livelihood, has not been as great as reported. Quite a number have left for Canada, however, and the corporation loses present quite a deserted appearance.

What Kindergarten Does for the Children.

ARTICLE II.

Mothers have a right to ask kindergarteners to give a reason for the faith that is in them; to say, "Tell us, actually and practically what the kindergarten is going to do for our children." Fathers have a right to ask mothers whose hearts are set on putting the children into a kindergarten
"What is the good of it, anyway?" and unless the kindergartener can tell the mother in a way she can understand, the mother cannot tell the father in a way which will make him feel that he is paying bills or perhaps increased taxes to any particular purpose.

The average mother of children today believes in a general sort of way that the kindergarten is a good thing. She believes this because people tell her so. She knows that the teachers are usually earnest and conscientious women, that the children are amused and entertained, that they learn pretty songs and plays and make bright colored little glimmers for her to take care of. But just wherein consists the direct educational advantage, the intellectual and spiritual good, is the point where ideas are apt to be a little hazy. She sometimes wonders why her child should be better off in a kindergarten than playing happily at home or out-of-doors. Now, it is very hard for a young kindergartener to formulate an answer to questions on these points. She knows a good deal more than she can tell. Like the children, she can at first express better in deeds than in words.
To give any simple, definite and satisfactory statement of the purpose of the kindergarten, such a statement will form clear ideas in a mother's mind, is not easy for any kindergartener, on account of the comprehensiveness of the subject; for it is as broad as human nature; it is nothing more nor less than a touch of the intention of God that we have to interpret.

Every child has a threefold nature, he is body, mind and soul. At home, during his early years, his life is the child object of care and solicitude, mind and soul being allowed to develop pretty much as they will, at first. In school the mind gets most of the attention, body and soul being largely left out of calculation. Now, it is not true that the child has a threefold nature, it would be all-sufficient to give him good physical care during the first six years, and then to send him to school to have his mind trained. If, in the one child, body, mind and soul did not dwell together during life as an inseparable unity, the old way of caring for body, mind and soul at school and at Sunday school, would do very well, and there would be no need of kindergartens. But the child has a growing mind and soul at home, he has an active body and a forming character, (another name for soul) at school, he takes his restless body and inquiring mind with him to Sunday school. He has this threefold nature, and as yet, the kindergarten is the only educational institution which, to any extent, recognizes it and strives to educate it. Whatever the kindergartener gives a child, of song, story, work or play, takes into account the active body, the unfolding mind, and the growing character or soul.

Why is It,

if catarrh is a constitutional affection, as those claim who have a blood tonic to sell, that physicians, in extreme cases, frequently advise change of air and climate to those suffering from it? Catarrh is a climatic affection, and nothing but a change of climate will cure it. Ely's Cream Balm, in all cases of catarrh, is so efficient as to do away with the necessity of leaving home and friends, and afford instant relief and a perfect cure after short continuance.

In Memoriam.

"Dear Mrs. Chaffin!" How many hearts will sicken at the announcement that she has "fallen asleep," leaving the gracious charities in which she was so heartily interested, to others! Not only that she was the devoted wife and helpmeet of one of the best governors Massachusetts ever had, will she be remembered, not so much because she was beautiful, literary, but, she was a friend, true, unselfish. So many burdened with grief, or pain, or care; poverty, perplexity or doubt have rolled
"as a sweet morsel under their tongues,"
"she is my friend" and that has been to them comfort, strength, inspiration, hope.
She entertained royally, beautifully, in her lovely home "une-bede-clime," but not alone the great and the gifted and honored in letters and art and country, but many a young person struggling for a livelihood writing or teaching has received in her home just the kind encouragement needed to assure success. Many poor children from the streets and lanes of the city, many from institutions and hospitals, have enjoyed her home and grounds, many unfortunates who have lost homes and property and business at a stroke, have been sheltered and entertained there, and perhaps more in their own homes have received such attentions as have helped them over stony places. A few potted plants sent in the spring from her own luxuriant greenhouse for the garden that our present limitations would otherwise have been bare, a drive with her in her carriage, such are a sample of the attentions to those who felt that reverses had shut them out from some circles to which they had been welcomed in the "better days," which made them feel some faith yet in humanity! And all this was done with no oppressive air of "I am doing you a good favor," rather the gracious humility was as if she was the one receiving a favor.

It is such a life as this that has closed here, but it has left a beauty and fragrance that will bless the world when all the flowers have faded, and give many a hungry, weary heart an inspiration to right living; to a new sense of the value of life when spent as her's was, for others.
